BRITISH BELIEVE ARMS PARLEY POSSIBLE

City to Wage Fight for Fare Reduction

ATTORNEY IS ENGAGED TO LEAD WAR ON RATE

Robert Young, Conductor Of Hollywood Legal Battle, To Direct Action

The opening gun in the fight for reduced Pacific Electric fares between Glendale and Los Angeles was fired this morning when the City Council voted to retain Robert Young, the attorney who waged the successful legal war for a 10-cent rate in Hollywood.

The vote was four to one, Councilman S. S. Gilhuly expressing himself as opposed to retaining Mr. Young. The transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce sustained the action of the council. The meeting was held in the committee of the whole, at the city hall.

At the regular meeting of the City Council, tomorrow morning, a formal vote will be taken and each member of the Chamber of Commerce transportation committee will join with the councilmen in putting his name in a document now being prepared by City Manager Virgil B. Stone, officially contracting with Mr. Young for his services in presenting a petition to the State Railroad commission for reduced fares.

Mr. Young addressed the council and members of the committee this morning, expanding on a letter in which he had set forth his terms, which were accepted. The terms follow:

First—A retainer of $1500, paid in advance.

Second—Approximately $1,000 for employment of additional counsel.

Third—Additional expenses approximating $1000.

Fourth—And $50 a day plus expenses, for Mr. Young, while he is trying the case.

The total expenses of presenting this petition to the State Railroad commission should not cost the city of Glendale in excess of $3500, Mr. Young stated.

"You have a good fighting chance of getting your rates to Los Angeles reduced," said Mr. Young. "My plan is to break down the theory that all rates over the Pacific Electric Railway Co.'s lines should be on one basis. Certain legal decisions have sustained this theory but all these decisions yield to exceptions. The idea that a city, not a part of Los Angeles but just as close to the metropolis, should have to pay higher fares than some other section, is fundamentally unsound, and should yield to legal evidence."

Mr. Young cited the case of Hollywood, where he succeeded in getting the fare to and from Los Angeles reduced to 10 cents. He was city attorney of Hollywood all of the eight years it was an incorporated city, he said. He also cited the case of Inglewood, where he succeeded in getting the fare to and from Los Angeles reduced to 10 cents, and succeeded in getting the thirty-trip commutation book cut from $3 to $1.50.

Ray L. Morrow, Glendale city attorney, and Bert P. Woodard, local attorney and member of the Chamber of Commerce transportation committee, will co-operate with Mr. Young in drawing up a petition that will show every possible cause for action, it was decided.

Those present this morning were: Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman S. A. Davis, S. S. Gilhuly, C. E. Kimlin and H. G. MacBain; Virgil B. Stone, city manager; Ray L. Morrow, city attorney; Robert Young, the attorney employed; who talked briefly and then left the room before the vote was cast; and, for the Chamber of Commerce, Bert P. Woodard and Arthur Campbell.

RED CROSS TAKES OVER STORM AREA

Relief Work Placed Solely In Hands of Chapter; Help Guaranteed

BENTON, Ill., March 25.—With relief work placed solely in the hands of the American Red Cross and reconstruction well under way in southern Illinois tornado-torn cities, efforts were directed today toward rural rehabilitation throughout the entire storm area.

At Murphysboro the burden of all relief work in Indiana, Illinois and Missouri was officially shifted from temporary societies onto the Red Cross at a mass meeting of civilians and rescue crews, and announcement was made that administrative offices for the tri-state operations would be established at Murphysboro.

Branch bases will be set up in each stricken city and village, where staffs of trained workers will be stationed. Every disaster sufferer in the stricken area was guaranteed individual help by Henry M. Backer, Red Cross disaster director. "The Red Cross will never leave until this is done," he said.

Welfare Workers

At West Frankfort 300 representatives of the southern Illinois towns conferred and similarly placed the responsibility of rehabilitation with the Red Cross.

A crew of fifty welfare workers was ordered to West Frankfort.

Today a caravan was touring the entire storm area in the three states. It consisted of a train carrying a complete commissary and sleeping quarters for fifty workers. Automobiles followed the train.

These workers will clean up the hundreds of farms leveled in the storm path without charge to the tenants.

STATE FIGHTS FREEDOM OF SHEPHERD

Effort Made to Keep Lawyer Charged With Murder In Jail At Chicago

CHICAGO, March 25.—On the spot where last summer State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe battled to forfeit the lives of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, he today made a desperate effort to keep in jail William D. Shepherd, lawyer, charged with the murder of his millionaire foster son, William Nelson McClintock.

Crowe was flanked by his two chief aids, George E. Gorman and Thomas Marshall, famous indictment expert, who drafted the bill upon which Shepherd is held.

Marshall, in beginning his argument, reiterated on the stand that corpus delecti may be proved by circumstantial evidence and that it has been established in this case.

Claim of Malice

Then he waved aside the plea of the defense which rests chiefly upon the contention that the corpus delecti has not been established.

"But that is not the most important phase of this matter," he said. "We must consider whether there has been malice, premeditation or design."

Marshall then referred to the testimony of state witnesses—Charles C. Faiman, J. P. Marchand, Dr. George Fosberg and Alexander Reichmann—who were called by the defense to show that bail should be granted. Their testimony, Marshall declared, demonstrated that there was malice as defined under the law.

"There are degrees of murder," he said. "Manslaughter is bailable, but murder is a capital offense and not bailable."

AMERICAN 'TRUST' ABROAD CHARGED

Senate Farm Bloc Starts 'Rump' Investigation Of Underselling

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A "rump" investigation into alleged trust operations of American firms abroad was launched today by the senatorial farm bloc.

The Senate group formally called on the Federal Trade commission for information concerning the nature of combinations formed in foreign territory by American business interests and the amount of investment made by American interests abroad in connection with such combinations. The request was contained in a letter to the commission, signed by sixteen western senators.

The farm bloc members charged American firms with dumping their surplus factory outputs in foreign markets at prices much cheaper than demanded from home consumption. This action, the senators contended, constitutes a violation of the Pomerene export trade act, the anti-trust law for American firms dealing abroad. They also charged this practice has resulted in profiteering at home.

Senators Support

According to Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, concerns involved in the bloc's complaint are selling farm machinery, tobacco, oil and gasoline and other products.

He was joined in launching the investigation by Senators Frazier of North Dakota, Howell of Nebraska, Harreld of Oklahoma, La Follette of Wiscousin, McMaster of South Dakota, McNary of Oregon and Norris of Nebraska, Republicans; and Fletcher of Florida, Kendrick of Wyoming, King of Utah, Mayfield of Texas, McKellar of Tennessee, Shepherd of Texas and Wheeler of Montana, Democrats, and Shipstead, farm-laborite, of Minnesota.

GAS INCREASE TAX BILL IS ASSURED

STATE CAPITOL, Sacramento, March 25.—The gasoline tax increase for the financing of the highway program was practically assured today when the State Highway commission accepted the ultimatum of the Progressives for budgeting of the road funds. This compromise will be read into the Breed bill and is said to assure 35 votes for the measure in the Senate, four more than the number needed.

The San Francisco delegation, which accepted the schedule, has been brought into line for the Breed bill by this strategy, since $1,500,000 of the new money will be made immediately available for the bay shore highway.

The bill will raise $20,000,000 in the next two years for roads, which is to be budgeted as follows:

For class A roads in the primary class, $9,000,000.

For class B roads in the primary class, $6,000,000.

For secondary roads, $5,000,000. It is from this last sum that the bay shore money will be taken.

Combined Fighting Force Of Navy In Gun Practice Off Harbor Coast Today

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Cal., March 25.—The combined fighting forces of the American fleet "went over the top" today somewhere near San Clemente island, when sixty-six war vessels, with decks cleared for action and 40,000 officers and men straining anxiously at their battle stations, shot into place for the force firing test, the greatest peace time war spectacle ever staged in the Pacific ocean.

With the arrival of the zero hour, a five-mile column of ships steaming slowly along 70 miles off shore from here, suddenly leaped into a slashing 19-knot stride, and a veritable inferno was let loose for six minutes. Almost instantly tons of screeching steel, propelled by thousands of pounds of explosive, were hurtled in a deafening hymn of destruction toward two lines of targets, one rank of which was below the horizon and hidden from sight.

Then—salvo after salvo was loosed by the dreadnaughts, reeling and staggering from the recoil of the 114-gun broadsides, belching death and destruction to the invisible targets. At the same time the secondary batteries, consisting of 152 guns, roared away at the closer targets. Forty anti-aircraft guns added their whip-like reports to the din as they banged away at the string of moving targets overhead, towed by a group of "enemy" planes.

Pushing forward at express train speed, the reeling ships, clothed in rolling mantles of black smoke from the broadsides, ducked, twisted and turned to dodge a stream of torpedoes which flashed through the sparkling seas out of the smoke screen far down on the horizon, cloaking a fleet of destroyers.

Poisonous gases combined with the smoke screens and the thunder roar of the broadsides gave an inimitable touch of realism to the scene.

TEAPOT OIL CASE DRAWS TO CLOSE

Counsel For Sinclair Claims Congress Directed Steps Of Defendant

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 25.—Declaring that the act of Congress of June 4, 1920, directed "in mandatory terms" the development of the naval petroleum reserves George P. Hoover of Washington, D. C., one of the Sinclair legal battery today defended the legality of the Mammoth Oil lease whereby Sinclair secured control of the rich Teapot Dome structure from former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall.

Today promised to bring to a finish the famous equity hearing before Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy in which the government seeks cancellation of the Sinclair lease.

Presents Arguments

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 25.—An exhaustive analysis of the legal phases involved in the Teapot dome naval petroleum lease was presented by Judge John W. Lacey of Cheyenne, defense attorney, in the equity hearing before Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy, wherein the government seeks annulment of the Sinclair contract for the Wyoming reserve.

Judge Lacey, calling attention to numerous motions to strike out certain evidence, argued against the admissibility of bank books and records because of their irrelevancy and incompetency. These bank records pertained to the account of Albert B. Fall, showing receipt by Fall of Liberty bonds to the value of $230,500.

CABINET SHAKE-UP FANNED BY RUMOR

Denials Follow On Wholesale Resignations' Gossip Around Capitol

WASHINGTON, March 25.—A flock of denials followed today in the wake of rumors that there is shortly to be an extensive shake-up and realignment of President Coolidge's cabinet.

During the summer, according to the rumors, a quartet of cabinet officers—Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of the Interior Work, Secretary of Labor James D. Davis and Postmaster General Harry S. New—will drop out of public life for one reason or another and be supplanted by advisers of Mr. Coolidge's own choosing. All those mentioned are holdovers from the Harding administration.

There is little likelihood of any such wholesale transition, according to the White House and the cabinent members themselves.

Secretary Weeks may, and probably will, resign before the summer is over. It has been an open secret for some time that Weeks has been eager to retire to private life.

SECURITY FOR NATIONS IS URGED IN ADDRESS

Foreign Secretary Outlines Stand On Questions In House Of Commons

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The proposed new international disarmament conference was the subject of a long conference between President Coolidge and Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee at the White House this afternoon. Borah said that definite steps shortly would be taken by the United States looking toward the calling of the conference, probably late this fall or winter.

By HARRY FLORY
For International News Service.

LONDON, March 25.—The British government believes, it was learned, unofficially, today, that sufficient progress has been made on the question of security to justify President Coolidge to call a disarmament conference without fear of the land armament problem causing difficulty.

The unofficial opinion followed a statement in the House of Commons last night by Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, in which he said, in effect, that Great Britain was ready to underwrite any proposals which Germany might make looking toward permanent peace in Europe.

Chamberlain outlined the "liquid" proposals which Germany was prepared to make. These were:

A special treaty guaranteeing security to France.

A mutual understanding with all powers interested in the Rhineland.

An arbitration agreement with all countries bordering on Germany.

The allies have virtually agreed to hold a pact conference, International News Service learned.

France had suggested, however, that diplomatic exchanges might accomplish the same result without a conference. France is said to have agreed to the German "liquid" offers with modifications as a basis of discussion. Chamberlain applied the word "liquid" to the German proposal, explaining that they were not intended to be concrete.

Great Britain now is definitely lined up with Germany in the problem of European security against another war, the Express indicated today, in commenting on Chamberlain's statement.

The majority in Commons appears to have accepted Chamberlain's declaration with enthusiasm. The question now is, Commons was asking, whether France will accede to the suggestions.

Great stress is being laid on Chamberlain's statement that since the war "Europe has been divided into two camps and unless restless fears are discontinued, Europe will again march to an Armageddon."

It is probable an inter-allied conference will be the next step toward European security, providing France sees fit to accept the German offer as a basis of discussion.

France's decision is expected to influence the stand of her allies, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

NEW SOLUTION IS OFFERED FOR ROADS

Three-Cent Gas Tax Raise Seen Eliminated By Bond Issue Plan

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service
Special to the Evening News.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—As a solution of the highway financing problem involved in various measures pending before the California Legislature, Senators Harry Chamberlain, Los Angeles, and Ed P. Sample, San Diego, introduced a proposed constitutional amendment providing for a $60,000,000 bond issue. According to the authors this sum would take care of all roads contained in the joint message prepared by the highway commission and the California highway committee of nine.

The bond issue, said Sample, to be retired out of general funds of state but only slightly increases the state's present expenses, as the amendment is drawn so that bonds retire in amounts that are increased gradually as present road bonds retire.

Assemblyman Isaac Jones, Ontario, introduced a bill providing for appropriation of $5,000,000 to supplement highway construction funds now on hand and specifies this sum shall be used only on main trunk highways of state as recommended in the report of E. E. East, Glendale, as engineer of Auto Club of Southern California.

Gas Tax Angle

Jones sees no need increasing gasoline tax and his measure may have material bearing on fight on tax today in Senate Revenue and Taxation committee where Senator Breed is making a stand for new construction under "pay as you go" plan.

Los Angeles District Harbor bill including Long Beach was satisfactorily amended and passed out Assembly committee today, making $3,500,000 Federal fund available if passed by Legislature.

Election of railroad commission from five districts instead of present appointive board in Charles Deuel's constitutional amendment also hit floor of Assembly today with many letters in support from Los Angeles, Glendale and beach cities affected by rates.

WHITE SETS PACE FOR DRESS SHADE

Fire At Palm Beach Gives Milady Chance To Buy Clothes For North

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 25.—The fire at Palm Beach burned up a lot of good clothes but it also obliterated many frocks that never would have been worn this summer in other parts of the country. To that extent the owners are not sorry for the Florida season now almost at its close, has given them a comparatively certain knowledge of what to buy for June and July in the north.

The striking feature of the late Florida trends of style is the predominance of white. The best dressed women here today are wearing lingerie dresses of white linen or soft white voile. Many of these are beautifully embroidered, their simplicity enhanced rather than destroyed by the drawn work and lace insets which adorn them.

Filet and Irish lace are being extensively used as adornments for these charming day-time and evening frocks. Occasionally the sheer white voile dress is worn over a crepe de chine, georgette or satin slip of some bright color. This softens the effect of the bright shade and still gives a luminous glow to the costume making the white voile seem almost lighted from within.

Combination Shades

Combinations of white with other shades are almost as popular. The most striking shade now in vogue is a tangerine, a reddish orange shade, in fact every shade of yellow from a lemon to a red can be seen at the clubs and hotels here. Tangerine scarfs are worn with white dresses and hats of the deep reddish orange shade are close rivals of the white headgear.

White shoes and white stockings have quite superceded the other shades. The flesh tints so universally worn in the north are seldom seen any longer on the Florida calfs. Combinations of white and tan are very swagger particularly the sandal type woven of alternating narrow stripes of white and tan leather in checkerboard effect.

The evening coats worn for the most part are of white. On a basis of heavy white silk there is imposed a heavy mash of white embroidery and the garments usually are completed with collars of some white summer fur such as Marabout or monkey. Evening dresses are also following the white trend but of whatever color, they must glitter.

This effect usually is attained by the use of beads. Side draperies are being extensively employed again, especially by women of the dowager type.

Adolescent or growing period of animals, from birth to maturity, is about one-sixth of their whole lives.

Task Greater Than War's Devastation Faces Tornado Belt

A task greater than that of even shell-riddled Belgium and France faces hundreds of thousands of people in Indiana, Illinois and four other states, as they bury their dead and dig what is left of their belongings out of the ruins of their homes and shops. State militiamen and volunteers from nearby communities are aiding in the mammoth task of clearing out the areas for reconstruction. A cleanup squad is seen at work at Griffin, Ind.

COOLIDGE GUESTS OF AMHERST BLOC

President Defies Comment By 'Paling' With Morgan Partner

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—It was no novelty to read that the President and Mrs. Coolidge had as their guests on the Mayflower this week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, of New York. Next to the Stearnses of Boston, the Morrows of New York are the most frequent White House visitors. One might also say the most frequent visitors of all for the Stearnses really live at the White House nowadays and take only occasional visits to Boston.

The Stearnses and the Morrows belong to the famous Amherst bloc which is all-powerful in Washington and promises to grow in influence during the next four years. And while Frank Stearns is an elderly friend and benefactor, he reaps as the high reward for the life-long faith he has had in Calvin Coolidge, the bright calcium rays that beat down upon the White House and all its occupants. Mr. Stearns is just content to bask and bask and bask.

Morgan Partner

Dwight Morrow is credited with having more influence, political or otherwise, with Mr. Coolidge, than any other man. And it is new evidence of Mr. Coolidge's political bravery that he should counsel so freely with a man who is a partner of Morgan and Co., whose famous banking house stands at the immortal corner of "Broad and Wall." This is said to be the age of hypocrisy in politics, when the left hand must never be permitted to know carryings-on of the right. Yet, Mr. Coolidge bravely flies in the face of all political custom and entertains time after time a man high in the counsels of Morgan.

It is all because Dwight Morrow was a classmate of the president's at Amherst. They were graduated together in 1895. Mr. Coolidge remained in New England; Mr. Morrow went to New York. Both took up the practice of law. By 1914 Dwight Morrow had won his way into the Morgan firm and had become possessed of much of this world's goods. At that time Calvin Coolidge was presiding over the Massachusetts state Senate and had virtually nothing beyond his legislator's salary. The friendship between the two men always has been close. Mr. Coolidge cherishes the days and the men of Amherst. It was at college that he made the few close personal contacts of a life governed so largely by a disposition of almost complete seclusion.

STATE PARK PLAN

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—Creation of a state park board under the terms of a bill introduced by Senator A. H. Breed was the subject of a hot fight in the Senate conservation committee today, with the result that objections to Exposition park, Los Angeles, being under the board's jurisdiction, will be met by amendments, according to Chairman A. Burlingame Johnson, Pasadena. He stated Los Angeles interests were opposed to passing $5,000,000 improvements to outside control.

WOMAN ATTORNEY NATIONAL FIGURE

Assistant Attorney-General of U. S. Tireless in Work To 'Clean Up'

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—In all the shifts, the comings and the goings of the department of justice, one figure remains tranquil, unflurried, imperturbable. It is that of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, one of the ablest lawyers her sex has ever produced; a tireless, unswerving government official—the assistant attorney general in charge of the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

It is not Mrs. Willebrandt's ambition to remain always in the department of justice, although there are plenty of men in public life today who regard her as timber of cabinet rank.

Mrs. Willebrandt would like to be the first woman federal judge. It seemed a short time ago that she would realize this ambition. President Coolidge was considering her for a vacancy on the bench in the northern district of California. But Mrs. Willebrandt hails from Southern California and if you have ever been to the golden state and know what the people of the north think of the people of the south, and vice-versa, you will understand why something akin to an avalanche suddenly fell upon the defenseless head of the unwary occupant of the White House.

Political Pressure

While political pressure from Northern California was being exerted against Mrs. Willebrandt there was plenty of other political pressure in her favor. It came from some of the "wet" eastern states where Mrs. Willebrandt has been cleaning out some of the federal officials whom she thought too lax in their attitude toward the life monument to Mr. Volstead. Some of the eastern politicians had been up against the Willebrandt buzzsaw and they yearned for her to take her place on the bench in California, or any other distant clime. The Hawaiian or the Philippines would have suited them better, or the supreme bench of Pago Pago best of all, if there is a supreme bench at Pago Pago.

There is talk that Mrs. Willebrandt may again be selected for a federal judgeship when a vacancy occurs in the southern district of California. Then the Los Anglan assistant attorney general may come into her own.

MODERN COLLEGE STUDENT UPHELD

University Of California Is Cited As 'Uplifting' Despite Reports

By L. C. OWEN
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

BERKELEY, Calif., March 25.—Despite the contention of some strait-laced persons to the contrary, there is still a lot that is uplifting in the life of the modern college student, as is evidenced in a double-barreled diatribe just hurled at University of California students here. One is directed at their moral well-being and the other at their joint physical and sartorial welfare.

"Don't go garterless," is one of the twain of warning injunctions hurled at frequenters of the Berkeley campus. The other contends that a drink is as bad as a drunk and that a hip flask with but a single shot is just as bad, from a strictly moral standpoint, as a full container.

Briefly summarizing the facts back of the sock suspender warning, it has been found that during the past few months there has been an unprecedented number of students affected with minor nose and throat troubles; likewise it has been found that nearly all of the "cold" victims were fraternity men who had adopted what is known in campus parlance as the "sloppy sock" fad.

Uplift Warning

The uplift warning against campus alcoholism is voiced by the "California Monthly," the official publication of the University of California alumni members. Some of its caustic editorial comment on the evils of John Barleycorn are undoubtedly prompted by recent prohibition raids in which Berkeley students were involved.

"There's no distinction to be drawn between drinking and drunkenness," says the alumni magazine, "in college they are equally culpable."

Referring to the allegations that college men were as numerous as other Volstead law violators in prohibition raids, the editorial continues—"It is insufficient to indicate that prohibition laws receive greater respect in the university community than in other cities of the same population.

"There is but one course by which accusers may be deprived of their substantiating evidence—that is through the development on the campus of a definite intolerance of the drinker at any function."

SHORT DRESSES IN FASHION'S CENTER

Present-Day Youth Known For Abbreviation Of Street Clothes

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, March 25.—The youth of the last generation were known by how their jewelry and how and when they wore it. The youth of today and those of middle-age also, are known by their short clothes and the way they wear them. For the younger set, nothing is more popular now than the jumper frock of fine kashmir jersey. The skirts are featured by kick pleats and the jumpers by collars of crepe or georgette of contrasting colors.

One piece of jewelry which is attracting much attention in Washington and which can always be worn with the best of taste is the brooch presented by Queen Mary to Mrs. Kellogg, wife of the new secretary of state. The ornament is of gold and contains three big amethysts and a pearl. It has been worn for years by the queen.

Young men, do you want to make a real impression on your lady fair at Easter? Then send her orchids to wear as a corsage bouquet. That is simple. Now comes the trick. Have the orchids interspersed with ostrich feather strands, delicately shaded to match the petals of the flower. In the language of vaudeville, "It's a wow."

The latest of Suzanne Talbot's millinery creations to reach America has absolutely no brim in the back. It is a small hat composed of alternate strips of fine black picot straw and pekine ribbon, with a narrow upturned straw visor in front. The crown terminates in a light bow of ribbon and the bobbed hair of the wearer.

SCOUT TESTS GIVEN FOR TRAINEES

Forty Glendale Men Attend School Conducted By H. R. Cheesman

Tenderfoot tests and impressive investiture ceremonials of Boy Scouting were experienced by the forty Glendale men in attendance last night at the session of the Scout leaders' training school at Harvard High school.

Harvey R. Cheesman, Scout executive, had organized the men into patrols at the first session. Patrols and leaders are: "Bull Patrol," Hal E. Leedom; Wild Cat Patrol, Stanley Lowry; "Bull Moose Patrol," W. L. Walker; "Pole Cat Patrol," Eugene J. Wix; "Eagle Patrol," Dr. Raymond Gartley.

Knot-tying was a phase of the work last night. Mr. Cheesman had the men play games in which knot tying is taught. Among the games were baseball and relay racing. Later the patrols were given the history of the flag and respect to the flag and then participated in a model troop flag ceremony. Most impressive was the investiture ceremony, by which a boy becomes a member of a troop. The latter part of the meeting was given over to informal sociability.

On Thursday night there will be another meeting at 7:30 o'clock at Harvard High shocol. First and second-class Scout requirements will be given.

Young Pianist Will Appear Again Friday

Stephen Whitford, 17-year-old pianist, protege of the Lions' club of Portland, Ore., who was heartily applauded yesterday upon his appearance at the Tuesday Afternoon club luncheon, is to play again at the clubhouse Friday afternoon at the meeting of the music department. Mrs. Roberta T. Young, curator, announces that Madame Gloria Bretherton is to present the opera "La Tosca" (Puccini), assisted by Riffa Leighton, dramatic soprano of Glendale, and Gilman Williams, baritone of Los Angeles. Mrs. Mary Parker Lawrence will be accompanist. Hostesses will be Mrs. W. P. MacMullin, Mrs. Enona Hopkins and Miss Lillian Cutler.

Burbank Sends Thanks For Aid From Glendale

The appreciation of the city of Burbank of Glendale's efforts to secure the new University of California, southern branch, for the former city, is contained in a communication on file at the offices of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. The letter is signed by R. O. Church, chairman of the schools' and colleges' committee of the Burbank chamber. In his communication Mr. Church conveys the gratitude of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce and the city-at-large and states that efforts to bring a large institution of one kind or another to the proposed university site will be continued.

ETHICS OF TEACHING OUTLINED IN SPEECH

W. L. Stephens, Superintendent of Schools At Long Beach, Addresses Members Of City Teachers' Club Here

"Public dance halls should not be frequented by schoolteachers nor should schoolteachers attend public dances," said W. L. Stephens, superintendent of city schools of Long Beach, yesterday afternoon, in addressing members of the City Teachers' club at Wilson Intermediate school on the subject, "Is Teaching a Profession?"

School teachers, Mr. Stephens said, are examples for others in this regard. He stated that, if people would converse with officers of the police departments, they would learn the greatest source of evil is the public dance hall. In his talk on the subject, the speaker gave the three requisites of the teaching profession: Preparation, compensation and ethical procedure, explaining each in detail and giving explanatory illustrations.

"Of all things," said Mr. Stephens, "school teachers should not smoke. The use of cigarettes today is the greatest menace which confronts us. A school teacher who uses tobacco cannot expect to influence a boy in the non-use of it."

Tells Requirements

The speaker named the required preparation for teachers of today stating the preparation necessary to become an elementary school teacher as well as a high school teacher. Quoting general figures given in the United States, Mr. Stephens said three out of every five school teachers in the United States have less than a normal school education.

"The danger to the teaching profession and the school is the teacher who has not had enough preparation and who think they know enough, thus encouraging inefficiency," said Mr. Stephens. "In my belief, teaching should be called a profession in regard to preparation."

Discussing compensation, the second requisite of the teaching profession, Mr. Stephens stated that teachers should be paid enough for them to live on comfortably, to pursue further in educational lines without embarrassment, and to engage in travel. He predicted that the United States would realize teachers should be paid enough salary to save money so they would not become wards of the state in old age.

Average Salaries

Figures given by the speaker as to average salaries were: Kindergarten, $1493; elementary, $1525; junior high school, $1706; senior high school, $2000; elementary principal, $2484; junior high school principal, $3106; senior high school principal, $4003.

"There must be a decided increase in the salaries of school teachers," said Mr. Stephens, "or else young people will cease to be attracted to the teaching profession. Of the 8,500,000 women in the working world today, only 8 per cent of this number are school teachers."

Women of today have a wider opportunity and more vocations from which to choose than they had a few years ago, he said.

Ethical Code

Discussing the ethical code, the third requisite of the teaching profession, he explained ethical procedure, stating that reactions to questions of moral situations were most interesting.

"In order to make the code effective," he said, "it must come from the teachers. One of the fundamentals of the ethical code which vitally affects them is to consider a contract binding. Judicious use of freedom of speech and action is the third fundamental of the ethical code."

Explanation of personal and professional obligations was given and the dangers of personal obligations in the school life outlined by the speaker. Mr. Stephens said that in a report recently given bankers of America by the Babson Commercial agency, it stated that the thing most needed in business and the thing most needed to stabilize business was religion and that the greatest menace was lack of religion.

Mrs. Ryan Presides

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, president of City Teachers' club, presided at the meeting, introducing Richardson D. White, city superintendent of schools, who introduced the speaker. Following the address, members of the club gave Mr. Stephens a rising vote of thanks.

The flag salute was given with Mrs. Ettarae Kent leading and the audience sang "America, the Beautiful." Mrs. Alberta Moyse gave two piano solos, "To Spring" (Grieg) and "Berceuse" (Godard). Miss Elsie Church sang as solos, "Little Damozel" (Novelle) and "Estrallito" (LaFord), with Miss Lorene Fritch as accompanist. R. Ernest Tucker, superintendent of Community Service, gave a short talk, announcing the district Eisteddfod which will be given April 26 to May 2.

During the business meeting a nominating committee composed of Miss Saxton, Mrs. Kent and Miss Gunderson was named. Miss Mitchell announced the nature study hike to Palm Springs, which will be taken during Easter vacation. Miss Bertha Berry, delegate to the southern council, gave a report on a meeting she attended recently.

Club Women Cooperate On Organization Fund

Women of the Tuesday Afternoon club have co-operated most heartily with the plan submitted at the first of the year by Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, chairman of ways and means, that every club member contribute $5 to the club, either by donation of the money or by service to the club amounting to that amount. Mrs. Lockwood reports that from October 1 to March 1 club members earned $740. She stated that twenty-two women earned their $5 outside the club; twenty-seven completed ten hours of service in the club; and 127 are still working.

At the club meeting yesterday Mrs. Montgomery read a letter from Mrs. Charles H. Toll accompanying a check for $5. Mrs. Toll stated that while her duties prevented her from earning the money, she was most happy to do her part as a member of the club.

NIGHT CLASS AT SCHOOL POPULAR

Education Board Members Hear Reports On Work From Superintendent

The night classes recently established in two city schools by the board of education are proving a big success, it was reported to the board last night by Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools. The meeting was held at board headquarters, 107½ South Brand boulevard. Mrs. A. A. Barton, president, presided. Mrs. Arthur C. Brown, secretary, was absent.

At the Magnolia school, Mr. White reported, night class enrollments grew so rapidly that it was necessary to move to the Cerritos school, where larger classroom facilities are available. The enrollment here is now seventy-two, many of them persons who speak little English. Miss Ruth Williams and Miss Edith Tyler are assigned to this school. At the Grand View school, where the enrollment has reached twenty, Miss Carolyn Ainsworth is carrying on the work. Classes are held at both schools Tuesday and Thursday nights, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The board last night authorized Mr. White to write Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, requesting that a copy of the correct "Flag Salute" procedure be furnished. John T. Cate, business manager, was authorized to remove a pepper tree from the Wilson Intermediate school parkway, where its roots have interfered with the sidewalk. The regular monthly financial report was rendered and approved.

Forty members were present. The new constitution and by-laws were adopted.

It was universally regarded as a signal success, and this, in a large measure, was due to your splendid support and co-operation."

ROMANTIC HISTORY OF STATE OUTLINED

Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes Tells Members of Tuesday Afternoon Club About Rancho de Cahuenga Episode

History and romance of California were brought to Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests at the luncheon yesterday by Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, president of the History and Landmarks club of California, writer of California history, originator of the mission bells that mark the way along El Camino Real, and well-known California clubwoman, who saved for Californians the site of the historic Rancho de Cahuenga, where the state of California came into being by the signing of the Articles of Capitulation in 1847.

Mrs. Forbes was introduced by Mrs. G. H. Rowe, chairman of history and landmarks of the Tuesday Afternoon club, who was luncheon hostess with Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president.

The story of the Rancho de Cahuenga as told yesterday by Mrs. Forbes, was a historical sketch based on authentic data in her possession. She told of vain attempts to have the old landmark saved, until last year, when the old building was in use as a cat and dog hospital, she enlisted the aid of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and a small plot of the historic ground, 100x200 feet, was bought at the great cost of $15,000, as compared with the price of $6000 set on three acres of the ground some years ago. Because California history was the theme of the luncheon speaker, the honor table was decorated with bowls of California poppies by Mrs. J. H. Toak.

Piano Numbers

Another treat enjoyed at the luncheon were piano selections by Stephen Whitford, young pianist, who is being sent to Paris, France, for two years' study by the Lions' club of Portland, Ore. He and his teacher, Miss Trotter were guests of Mrs. Chester O. Kling. The young artist played "Polonaise" (MacDowell), "Juggerless" (Moszkowski), "Blue Danube Waltz" (Strauss, Schulz-Elver arrangement) and an encore. His playing was a marvel to the club company, all of whom applauded him for his splendid musicianship, which gives promise of a brilliant future.

H. S. McCormack, who is to be Glendale chairman for the Hollywood Bowl concerts, spoke briefly of the sale of tickets for the concert series.

Mrs. Frank Arnold, with Mrs. Roberta T. Young as accompanist, led in community singing. Among the guests present were: Mrs. Fiske, Hollywood; Mrs. Barnes, Long Beach; Mrs. Wilmont, Santa Monica; Mrs. Ford, Michigan; Mrs. Frank Wheat, Los Angeles; Mrs. Charles Kinsley, Los Angeles; Miss Carrie Noble, principal of Wilson Intermediate school; Mrs. Carrie Campbell, president of the Thursday Afternoon club.

Adopt Resolution

In the afternoon, at the club meeting directed by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, the club passed a resolution against the Rosenshine bill, No. 748, concerning community property, and if passed would eliminate the necessity for the wife's signature on sales and mortgages, which might in effect nullify the good accomplished by the property law. The resolution was submitted by Mrs. L. E. Richardson, representing the American citizenship and legislation department. Before reading her resolution, she read a similar resolution passed by the executive board of the state federation.

Announcement was made that the committee on revision of the club by-laws includes Mesdames H. E. Bartlett, John Robert White, Jr., Frank C. Ayars, Duncan and C. G. Putnam. The club members applauded the announcement that H. S. McCormack has donated the use of a lot at Los Feliz road and Central avenue for a signboard directing people to the Dobinson Players at the clubhouse. Mrs. Max Lynn Green and Mrs. A. L. Bryant of the drama department, who received recognition for plays submitted in the district Americanization play contest, were called to the platform and introduced. Mrs. Green's play "If the Shoe Fits—" won second prize; while Mrs. Bryant's play, "Verily" was highly commended. The plays will be read at the drama department meeting April 3. Club members contributed 116 articles of clothing yesterday for local relief work. Other donations

HOME BUYING FOLLOWED BY CITY

City Manager Stone Favors Hiring Glendale Men Wherever Possible

An explanation of the city's policy of buying and hiring at home was given in an address by City Manager Virgil B. Stone before directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting yesterday. The city departments are co-operating 100 per cent with merchants and the Chamber of Commerce in their trade-at-home campaign as far as that is possible under the law, Mr. Stone said. Certain provisions in the state laws and the city charter make it impossible in the matter of letting contracts for the city to show any discrimination whatever, he said.

Tabulations showing the amount of buying done in Glendale during the past year and others giving the percentage of Glendale persons employed by the city as compared with employes living elsewhere, were presented to the board by Mr. Stone. These figures showed that more than $81,000 of the city's money was spent with Glendale merchants during 1924 and that of 400 city employes only nineteen live outside the city limits. Most of those living outside the city are residents of territory immediately adjacent and have moved from Glendale proper through necessity, Mr. Stone said.

Tells Co-operation

Beside this the city manager pointed out that since he took office positions on the Glendale fire department have gone to former service men exclusively. An attempt to hire only former service men on the police department is also made, he said. Mr. Stone exhibited a large stack of letters from managers of local concerns thanking him for the city's co-operation with local merchants.

Mr. Stone appeared before the Chamber of Commerce board in answer to a resolution recently passed by the directors calling upon the city to observe the principles of the trade-at-home campaign as strictly as possible.

"This is being done in every possible instance," was Mr. Stone's reply. He appeared before the board and produced figures and personal communications in support of his assertion.

Guaranteed by the Law

The investments of Building and Loan Associations in California are very strictly regulated by law (Civil Code, sections 633-648a). They loan money only upon unencumbered real estate having an appraised value of 50% in excess of the amount of the loan, and the loan, in every case, is secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust, and the improvements are fully protected by fire insurance. In addition the amount of the loan is constantly being reduced by the monthly payments of the borrower, so that the margin of security is steadily being increased. Building and Loan Associations are prohibited by law from making any loans to their own officers or directors. It is apparent, therefore, that every dollar of your investment in the stock or certificates of a Building and Loan Association is safeguarded by an unbreakable first lien upon real estate or by the bonds of the government or governmentally-regulated corporations.

A GIRL'S HONOR—
Is more precious than much popularity.
Is never violated by a man who truly loves her.
Is never laid open to suspicion by her ability to say "no."
Is too precious a treasure to gamble with lightly.
Is worth no more to the world than the value she places on it.
Is too big a price to pay for keeping up with the crowd.
Is God's kind of admiration for womankind.

IMPROVE YOUR JOB

Some writer advises very succinctly: "Don't change your job, improve it." A job always looks easier and more remunerative at a distance, yet there is more satisfaction and greater rewards in trying to improve the quality of one's work than in changing to something different. Of course the man who is doing work that he detests and has an opportunity to get into something that he knows he likes is an exception.

Rev. Fred Eastman, writing in Harper's, tells how, after thirteen years in the ministry, he became discouraged because the cry today is no longer: "For God's sake, save the world," but "For God's sake, raise the budget"; because organization and social service and church politics have supplanted spiritual food for the individual soul; and because so large a per cent of the home mission funds collected by most Protestant churches is used to keep alive little competitive denominational churches rather than being used for real home missionary work among the Alaskans, the Indians, the immigrants and the southern mountaineers. He presents excellent argument to show that he should leave the church. The church, he says, is a big machine. As an institution its function seems to be that of every other membership organization: To get more and ever more new members—to expand, to grow, to be a majority. A minister must use up his energies in the institutional functions of the church and have little left for the spiritual functions.

And yet, after the long self-search, this minister decides to remain in the church, clinging to that spiritual purpose which constrained him to enter the ministry. Christ drove the money-changers from the temple, but he did not desert the temple.

If things are not going as they ought in your work, in your organization or in your city it is your opportunity to improve them. Desertion of a cause is not praiseworthy.

GENERAL DAWES' PIPE

Vice-President Dawes has violated the conventions and harassed the feelings of Washington's 400 by carrying his pipe into the restaurant of the New Willard hotel in Washington and using it there. It may be a matter of information and interest to some that a pipe is taboo in many of the haunts of the elite where cigars and cigarets are permissible. A pipe does not always suggest spring zephyrs laden with the scent of clover fields and lilac blossoms, but neither do cigarets, even though they be violet-scented.

The South Bend Tribune, criticising the vice-president for this breach of etiquette, says: "We do not question the general's legal right, but we do question his right in manners, which are based on consideration of others. Many women can endure cigar and cigaret smoke, but are nauseated by a pipe."

This "consideration of the rights of others" does not seem to extend to those who are nauseated by cigaret smoke, but find a pipe bearable. We have no knowledge of the power and strength of the vice-president's pipe, but as long as he prefers to use tobacco in that form we glory in his determination to do it wherever smoking is allowed. Surely one pipe, however strong, cannot make much impression upon the atmosphere of a restaurant filled with cigaret smoke.

The Tribune goes on to say: "Smoking at table used to be reserved for the period after the ladies had left; but now one sees men smoking before, during and after meals, in living rooms and restaurants, lobbies of theatres and while transacting business. There is no restraint; and as a result part of the pleasure of smoking is lost by excess. The dining cars and certain dining rooms of some clubs are about the only places left besides the church sanctuaries where men will not light their cigarets."

WAR TALK 'BUNK'

Alanson B. Houghton, formerly United States ambassador to Germany, has just returned from a visit to Europe and he says that the talk of preparation for war in Germany is "bunk." The ruling powers of Germany do not want war and Germany cannot become a military power for years, if ever.

And all the while France makes the fear of attack by Germany her excuse for large military preparations and her plea for not paying her debts to England and the United States. France is maintaining a large standing army and she is building airplanes faster than any other nation on earth. She is jeopardizing her financial standing to build up a military establishment that she deems capable of protecting her from Germany. And the thrifty people of France are staggering under a burden of taxation and facing national bankruptcy. These people, but for preparations for war, might be living in comfort and happiness.

The situation in France is the best argument for a world agreement to reduce armaments and so establish equilibrium in Europe. Yet when Great Britain proposes a joint treaty of mutual refraining from war and arbitration in which Germany would be included, France will not listen.

And so England is being gradually forced into association with Germany because she will not endorse armed alliance against Germany and perpetual repression of that country.

There is little hope for Europe as long as suspicion, hatred and preparation for war are rife.

ANOTHER TAX

When the California Legislature passed the Johnson bill, which calls for a tax of 2 cents a pound on oleomargarine, it may have intended to favor the creamery men of the state, but it struck at the workingman and added a little more to his burden.

The necessity for retrenchment and the exorbitant price of butter during the war drove thousands of families to the use of substitutes which retailed at about half the price of butter, and many are still continuing the use of vegetable oil compounds, either through necessity or choice.

It is presumed that the Johnson bill was introduced in the interests of the creamery men, who have been hard hit by the enormous use of oleomargarine, but the consumer can add this tax to the price of his butter substitute and still be away ahead of the game. With the difference in price so great, a few cents a pound additional in the cost of oleomargarine will not cause anyone to buy butter who would not buy it otherwise.

Those who are forced by necessity to economize and those who prefer vegetable to animal fats will still buy the substitutes, even though they have to pay for the privilege, for, of course, it is the consumer who will have to pay the tax.

A LOUD SPEAKER

Flapping Sails

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The trouble with too many people in the world is that their sails are flapping.

They are going nowhere. They are drifting around at the mercy of the wind.

What keeps a sail taut is that it is fastened in such a way as to resist the wind in some measure.

All advance depends upon one's power of resistance.

The only part of a ship that is going in an opposite direction is the screw. That is what makes it move forward. No man goes forward in life except as he is prepared to resist things and he has power and will to do so.

A sail must be fastened at the top and the bottom in order to present the proper resistance to the wind.

That is, one must have the right ideals and one must put in the right amount of work. If he is loose in either direction his sail will flap.

Too many people have fine ideals, but have no capacity for endurance and perseverance.

On the other hand a great many people are good workers, but they have no ideals to stimulate them, no enthusiasm to make them keep going.

Of enthusiasm you must have a great deal or it is worth nothing at all. It is said that a little rain makes the windows dirtier.

Where one has lofty ideals and also a capacity for work it is pretty hard to keep him down.

Public opinion may be compared to the wind. "It bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh nor whither it goeth."

Too many people go where public opinion drives them. The result is that they have no goal and accomplish nothing.

To use public opinion and to get somewhere with it, it is necessary at times to resist it. One's resistive power is that which urges one forward. Public opinion veers and we have to shift our sail to accommodate it. It may once in a while blow us in the right direction, but oftener than not it is necessary for us to tack a bit.

Above all things we must not let the sail hang idly from the mast if we want to reach the home port.

Horoscope

Good and evil planetary influences contend today, according to astrology. While the Sun, Venus, Neptune and Mercury are all in benefic aspect, Jupiter and Uranus are strongly adverse.

Under this government of the stars concentration may be difficult and ideas diffuse. This is a rule that makes concentration difficult.

This should be a favorable sway for seeking positions in any artistic line of work. Women should find this rather a lucky day for millinery, dressmaking and ministrations that improve personal appearance.

Venus smiles today on weddings and appears to promise that they who marry under this sway will have lasting love and long prosperity.

All who desire employment in the artistic professions would do well to seek their right places today.

Music and art are to benefit in the summer months. Many new projects for educating Americans in the finer things of life are foretold.

Mars in Gemini appears to presage for next month excitement and disturbance, owing to unusual occurrences.

Honors for military men again are indicated and there will be promotions that cause criticism, it is prophesied.

Cold weather that is unfavorable to crops is likely to continue in certain parts of the country.

Many deaths among women who stand at the head of their professions or have gained fame will mark the next few months.

Spring politics will be more uncertain than usual, it is prognosticated, for there will be much intrigue and underhanded work.

The next few months will be significant as a period of preparation for surprising events and should be employed wisely.

Explosions and unexplainable disasters in the navy and in summer camps are foretold and should be made impossible wherever the message of the stars is heeded.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year busy and progressive. Travel is indicated, but it is well to avoid unnecessary expenditures.

Children born on this day will probably be exceedingly bright and active. These subjects of Aries like to make the most of every opportunity for pleasant adventure and live to the utmost.

Today's Poem

FOR WHAT IS LIFE?

For what is life, if measured by the space,
Not by the act?
Or masked man, if valued by his face,
Above his fact?
Here's one outlived his peers,
And told forth fourscore years;
He vexed time, and busied the whole state;
Troubled both foes and friends;
But ever to no ends;
What did this stirrer, but die late?
How well at twenty had he fallen or stood!
For three of his fourscore, he did no good.

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—A bill by Assemblyman Graves of Los Angeles to abolish capital punishment and providing that the maximum penalty for murder in the first degree should be life imprisonment, was tabled by the Assembly judiciary committee today. The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

CLARK KINNAIRD

What is the foundation of the interest cultivated men feel in Greek history, letters, art and poetry, in all its periods from the Heroic or Homeric age down to the domestic life of the Athenians and Spartans, four or five centuries later?

Emerson's answer to the question was:

"The manners of that period are plain and fierce. The reverence exhibited is for personal qualities; courage, address, self-command, justice, strength, swiftness, a loud voice, a broad chest.

"Luxury is not known, nor elegance.

"A sparse population makes every man his own valet, cook, butcher and soldier, and the habit of supplying his own needs educates the body to wonderful performances."

* * *

Such are the Agamemnon and Diomed of Homer, and not far different is the picture Xenophon gives of himself and his compatriots in the Retreat of the Ten Thousand:

"After the army had crossed the river Teleboas in Armenia, there fell much snow, and the troops lay miserably on the ground covered with it. But Xenophon arose naked, and taking an axe, began to split wood: whereupon others rose, and did the like."

Throughout his army seemed to be a boundless liberty of speech. They quarrel for plunder, they wrangle with generals on each new order, and Xenophon is as sharp-tonged as any, and sharper-tongued than most, and so gives as good as he gets.

"Who does not see that this is a gang of great boys," Emerson asks, "with such a code of honor and such lax discipline as great boys have?"

The charm of the ancient tragedy, and indeed of all literature, as has been expressed many times, is that the persons speak simply—speak as persons who have good sense without knowing it. Then the reflective habit had not become the predominant habit of the mind.

"Of admiration of the antique is not the admiration of the old, but of the NATURAL," Emerson observed.

"The Greeks are not reflective, but perfect in their senses, perfect in their health, with the finest physical organization in the world.

"Adults acted with the simplicity and grace of boys. They made vases, tragedies and statues, such as healthy senses should—that is in good taste.

"Such things have continued to be made in all ages, and are now, wherever a healthy physique exists; but as a class, from their superior organization, the Greeks have surpassed all.

"They combine the energy of manhood with the engaging unconsciousness of childhood. Our reverence for them is our reverence for childhood."

Who's Who

The story of Arturo Alessandri's meteoric rise and fall recently astonished the world. After organizing a formidable liberal movement and rising to power as the reform leader of a new Chile last September he was quietly ousted from office overnight and banished by a group of military usurpers, amid the apparent indifference of his followers. He left the presidential palace of La Moneda a poor man, it is said, with only about $18 in his pocket, and friends had to supply him with funds for his journey into exile.

Now, five months later, following a second bloodless coup d'etat carried out by military elements opposing the late usurpers, Alessandri, the stormy petrel of Chilean politics, the fallen idol of yesterday, called back to his homeland, is to be welcomed with open arms by the Chilean masses.

Alessandri is the embodiment of a rising middle class, which is demanding liberal reform in a country governed through practically all its history by a reactionary master group.

During the greater part of its republican history, Chile has been ruled by this wealthy, clerical oligarchy, and Alessandri is the first Chilean president who does not belong to the old Chilean aristocracy of colonial tradition.

Alessandri also is the first Italian name in the list of Chilean chief executives. He is the grandson of an Italian resident who married a Chilean woman and settled in that country. Born December 21, 1869, he studied law and practiced his profession for several years, entering politics later and gaining rapid prominence.

Following one of the most memorable campaigns in the history of Chile, he was elected president, June 25, 1920, by a margin of only two votes in the Electoral College. The election was contested, but the Court of Honor confirmed Alessandri's victory, and the Chilean congress, in joint session, October 6, 1920, proclaimed him president for the term 1921-1925. He assumed office December 23, 1920.

YOUTH GIVEN POISONED CANDY

C. V. Lovell, Pasadena, Will Recover From Effects Of Odd Attack

C. V. Lovell of Pasadena left the Cottage hospital, Burbank, yesterday afternoon, apparently recovered from severe poisoning resulting from eating candy given him Monday night by a stranger in front of a Burbank cafe.

According to reports, Mr. Lovell had accompanied Miss Ruth Walker of 1035 Western avenue, Glendale, home, and had then driven to Burbank for a lunch at a cafe. Coming from the cafe he was accosted by a man who asked him for a match. The man reciprocated by offering Lovell a chocolate cream.

Motive Lacking

A moment after eating the candy he became violently ill, it is reported, and started to chase the stranger. Lovell was found by Burbank police lying in San Fernando road, a rock clutched in one hand and a stick in the other. His car was parked about half a block from the scene. The fact that the car was so near leads the police to believe the story.

The fact that the stranger did not attempt to rob his victim leaves the police at a loss to guess the motive. Lovell is employed at Mount Wilson hotel. Reported facts in the case were verified this morning at the Walker home.

can be made to Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, chairman of local relief.

Another delightful program was presented by Mrs. F. H. Wallace, chairman of program. The artists were Mrs. Carolyn Pearson, musician and reader, and Z. Earl Meeker, baritone, who gave "America In Melody and Story." Mrs. Pearson has a very happy way of winning her audience with her gracious personality and pleasing voice. Added to her wealth of knowledge of American musicians and music, is her clever talent as pianist, accompanist and reader. Mr. Meeker, who is one of Southern California's foremost baritones, has hosts of friends in Glendale, who always give him warm greeting.

In introducing her program Mrs. Pearson paid tribute to Mrs. Wallace as "the finest program chairman" she knew. The program began with Indian music, Mr. Meeker singing "The Moon Drops Low" (Cadman), followed by negro poems and melodies. Mrs. Pearson gave some of Paul Lawrence Dunbar's poems. Mr. Meeker sang "The Banjo Song" from "Bandana Ballads" (Sidney Homer), "Deep River," a negro spiritual, "Way Down Upon the Swanee River" (Foster), and "Ma Lindy Lou." Yankee sketches and songs were next presented. Mrs. Pearson won much applause in her "Sea Yarn" (Holman Day). Later Mr. Meeker sang "Three for Jack" (Squire), an old New England hymn with words by Whittier, and "Long Ago Sweetheart Mine" (MacDowell). Hoosier compositions were then featured, Mrs. Pearson giving Riley's "When the Frost Is On the Pumpkin" and playing "Turkey In the Straw." Robert Service's poem, "Call of the Wild," recited by Mrs. Pearson, furnished the western atmosphere. "Concert Etude" (MacDowell) was played on the Ampico. As a final number Mr. Meeker gave an operatic number from "Il Pagliacci."

Son Of Glendale Man Is Injured In Tornado

F. M. Shumate, 614 North Jackson street, is in receipt of news from his son, George Shumate, of Carterville, Ill., who was one of the sufferers in the recent terrible storm in that section. Mr. Shumate was in West Frankfort when the town was hit by the tornado and was severely injured, sustaining severe bruises and having both feet injured. The bottom of one foot was cut off, but it was replaced with surgical aid and many stitches and he is hopeful of complete recovery. His father and sister, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, have been residents of Glendale a number of years.

Glendale Organist To Give Church Program

Miss Mildred Brockway of 221 Richland avenue, Glendale, a member of the American Guild of Organists, will give a program at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning at St. Paul's cathedral, Sixth and Figueroa street, Los Angeles. She will play "Andante" from "Sonata No. 4" (Bach); "Prelude and Fugue in B Flat" (Bach); "Meditation on the Lake of Galilee" (Wiegand); "Andante in G" (Smart); "At Sunset" (Diggle); "Marche Royale" (Hailing).

Tells Plans

R. BELCHER, candidate for city councilman, who announces his platform today.

Editor The Evening News:—I wish to announce my platform as a candidate for councilman of the city of Glendale, election to be held April 14, 1925.

To the good voters of Glendale, I desire to pledge myself to do certain things. If elected to the council and I fail to use my efforts to carry out what I pledge myself to do I will expect my supporters to ask for my resignation, and if, at any time, I cannot carry out my intentions I shall resign.

FIRST: I will see that the council convenes promptly on time, that no secret sessions are held by the council and that all discussions are held openly and not behind closed doors.

SECOND: All contracts will be let to the lowest bidder where the necessary bonds are given as security for the city.

THIRD: The fire and police departments should be under civil service and all city employes should be given a hearing before permanently dismissed.

FOURTH: All improvements should be done at the request of the majority of the property owners that are to be assessed for the payment of the improvements.

FIFTH: In opening and widening of streets, the majority of property owners that are to be assessed for the improvements should rule as to width, kind of pavement and kind of lighting standards.

SIXTH: I am of the same opinion as Mr. Tower (also a candidate for councilman) that neither the water meters nor the installation of same should be charged for as the water meters belong to the property owner in the first place.

My qualifications for office are as follows: I will soon be 48 years of age. I have lived in Glendale since June, 1919. I know right from wrong and am willing to exercise that thought. I have enough business ability to conduct my business to a success therefore I feel capable of conducting the city's business. I am a contractor of painting and decorating. If the good voters think I could fulfill the needs of Glendale you may vote for me, if not you have the same privilege to vote for some one else. I am for a clean cut open and above board government at all times.

R. BELCHER.

High School

Pupils who gathered last night in the auditorium at Harvard High school for a routine school program, were parents of children who attend the school. They were invited to "go to school" by the Parent-Teacher association. From 7:30 to 8 o'clock a program was given in the auditorium. Mrs. George U. Moyse, vice-principal, presided. Mrs. W. R. Wichert, president of the P.-T. A., gave greeting and introduced George U. Moyse, principal, who spoke briefly to the parents and then dismissed them to their classes. The program given included selection by the school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Perry Rogers; violin solo, "Adoration," by Mary Ann Fleming; cornet solo, "Melody in F," by Grant Laughlin; solos by pupils of Virginia Freeman, "To a Hilltop" and "Love Has Wings," by Isabel Yates, and "Spanish Love Song" (Chaminade), by Frances Kulp. Class periods, shortened to ten minutes, were carried out according to the daily program, the school patrons going from room to room to meet the teachers.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR STORM VICTIMS

Appeal For Assistance Sent From Tornado District; Glendalians Help

While every effort is being made in the storm-swept area of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky, where death and destruction stalked a week ago today, to save the lives of many persons who were injured, and to care for the thousands who were left homeless, an appeal for more funds is broadcast. Money is needed for food, clothing, medicine and the task of rebuilding homes, even if only temporary.

Glendalians have responded nobly to the first appeal made by The Glendale Evening News, when this paper announced it would receive and forward to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce any amounts the residents of Glendale wished to give. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has been designated as the agency in charge of relief funds in Southern California.

The need for funds is urgent in the storm-stricken area, and persons who have not sent in their check are asked to mail it to The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand boulevard, at once, in order that the money can be forwarded to Los Angeles and sent to provide food, clothing and medicine for victims of the tornado. Checks for the fund should be plainly marked "For Tornado Relief Fund."

Individuals and organizations that have contributed, and the amounts, follow:

STAGE AND SCREEN

VIEWS AND PREVIEWS—NEWS NOTES FROM STUDIOS

COMEDY PICTURE PLEASES CROWDS

'Charlie's Aunt' Causes Riot Of Fun At The Glendale, Some Snappy Music

It is doubtful if a picture could be any funnier than "Charlie's Aunt," which continues its hilarious run at the Glendale theatre to record audiences. Syd Chaplin, who plays the aunt, "from Brazil, where the nuts come from," here excels even his springhtly performance in "The Galloping Fish."

The play was originally produced in England thirty-three years ago and has played continuously and in almost every known language, ever since. As a screen farce, however, it far surpasses the stage version, partly because the screen permits greater latitude in settings, and largely because Syd Chaplin is by far the greatest comedy actor who ever assumed the title role.

Display of Humor

Syd has the soul of a true comedian. Every gesture, every lift of the eyebrows, evokes a humorous reaction from his audiences, yet he himself seldom so much as smiles. The production, directed by Scott Sidney, to whom much credit is due, in addition to being beautiful, is so smooth and steady that it seems actually to flow along. There are no raw edges, no unfinished corners.

"Charlie's Aunt" is supplemented by a clever dance act by Kirby and DeGage, offering a new novelty number, "La Ferruca." As with the Argentine tango, many of the steps in this dance are adaptable to ballroom dancing, Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale theatre points out.

Accompanying Kirby and DeGage are Lopez' "Castilian Serenaders," whose elaborate costumes and snappy music are proving a big hit, judging from the applause they received at every performance.

NOTED PLAYERS OFFER 'THE SNOB'

John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel And Others In Feature Picture

Monta Bell's Metro-Goldwyn picture, "The Snob," coming Wednesday to the Gateway theatre, boasts a large cast headed by five of the best-known players in filmland, and supported by almost a dozen noted character players.

John Gilbert will be seen in a new and unusual role, but a most fascinating one for him, as "the snob," the central character of the story. Being a leading man, it took considerable daring on Mr. Gilbert's part to play this character, which is an unsympathetic one, but he was glad of the opportunity to attempt something new in characterization.

Opposite Mr. Gilbert is the beautiful Norma Shearer, who plays the wife of "the snob." Miss Shearer, who will be remembered for her work in "Broadway After Dark," "Broken Barriers," "Empty Hands," "Pleasure Mad" and other pictures, is said to add to her laurels by some more excellent work in this picture.

Cast Strong One

Conrad Nagel has another of his usually pleasing roles as an ambitious artist, and Phyllis Haver has a part somewhat resembling that of Mr. Gilbert's, in being an unscrupulous, scheming person in love with another's mate. Hedda Hopper has an important role.

The supporting cast includes such well-known performers as Margaret Seddon, Aileen Manning, Jack Curtis, Hazel Kennedy, Charles Puffy, Gordon Sackville, Nellie Bly Baker, Roy Laidlaw, Mabel Coleman, Blanche Payson and others.

"The Snob" was adapted and directed by Monta Bell from the Helen R. Martin novel of the same name, as his first production under his new contract with the Metro-Goldwyn company. It is presented by Louis B. Mayer.

There will also be the regular Wednesday feature of selected vaudeville.

HOOVER PLAYS BIG PART AT CAPITAL

Transfer Of Patent Office To Commerce Dept. Accredited Him

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Herbert Hoover has gradually developed a role in the Coolidge administration which began with the Harding administration and means even greater latitude than before in recommending and suggesting changes in governmental machinery that make for efficiency.

The transfer of the patent office from the department of interior to the department of commerce was under the authority of a law already on the statute books but it was no incidental transfer. It was the culmination of a series of developments principal among which is that American business has begun to cooperate with Secretary Hoover and the latter in turn has left no stone unturned to satisfy American business that so far as he is concerned red tape will be severed and a short cut to getting things done quickly will always be sought.

Patent Office

The patent office has been under a department which has relatively little contact with the business men of the nation. The department of commerce, however, is in close touch with the business man. It works in harmony with the United States Chamber of Commerce. In fact if Herbert Hoover were to serve in a cabinet office another few years he would have all bureaus which directly or indirectly affect the expansion of American business here and abroad co-ordinated.

Mr. Hoover is a sort of right hand man to presidents. Mr. Harding leaned on him heavily. So does Mr. Coolidge. For Secretary Hoover without beating the tom-toms simply goes ahead and plans and plans and then gets things done. It's the mind of the engineer applied to government.

Another Point

It is whispered that Secretary Hoover had a great deal to do with the appointment of the new secretary of agriculture, Mr. Jardine. That means co-operation between the department of agriculture and the department of commerce which has not obtained heretofore. Mr. Hoover feels the biggest problem in agriculture is marketing at home and abroad. Mr. Jardine thinks along the same lines as Mr. Hoover. They will work together.

Another point—American business men have not in the past been able to organize themselves so as to co-operate with the department of commerce. Under the presidency of Julius H. Barnes, an intimate friend of Mr. Hoover, a large policy of co-operation was begun by the United States Chamber of Commerce, which has been continued ever since and is being carried forward by A. W. Grant, the present head of the chamber.

'MANNA' NEXT FOR PLAYER PROGRAM

Religion And Faith Play Big Part In Next Offering At Playhouse

Religion and faith are not subjects which the average man who is churchless handles with gloves. He knows their power, even if he pretends to scoff at it. And so in "Manna" which the Dobinson Players will present at the Glendale Playhouse the week of March 30—next Monday—when one of the maimed boys, a shipwreck of the world war, reads from the Bible, the favorite expletive of one of his friends, the scoffer, is "Applesauce!"

There is no lack of reverence in the handling of this great theme, but there is a refreshing lack of mawkishness. And when faith finally triumphs, and the man who believes is made whole, the effect on the doubters is tremendous.

"Manna" indeed is bread from Heaven, for the Biblical texts dropped out of the hospital windows by the boy who believes fall into the lives of many people and toss them about with the power of a tornado, though always this tossing is for good.

Greater Than "Fool"

Director Fred J. Butler, who has had thirty years' experience as actor and director, says emphatically: "'Manna' is greater than 'The Fool,' because there is no warping of the characters in order to prove some theory of the author. The men and women in 'Manna' act naturally, with a primitive response to basic emotions, just as we respond when we are profoundly stirred. I have never seen a more human play."

Miss Doris Lloyd, the star of "The Ruined Lady," who is going over so hilariously this week at the Playhouse, has an entirely different role in "Manna." She is required to rise to superb heights emotionally; to be hard and tender and reckless and loving—and she responds as few others could in the part.

"Manna" is a vital human message; a story of love and faith and hope, some tears and some laughter, sunshine and pain and human weakness and at the last a rainbow of hope—in short it is a slice out of life itself.

'LIAR' HURLED AT HEARINGS ON BANKS

Banker, Lawyer Come Close To Blows In Argument At State Capitol

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—Heated verbal exchanges, punctuated by the charge that "you are a liar" and the countercharge that "you're a d—— liar," threatened to result in a fist fight between O. E. Monett, president of the Bank of America, Los Angeles, and James M. Oliver, attorney for the state banking department, at the Assembly Banking committee hearing last night on the branch bank bill. The bill was finally tabled.

The ugly word crept into a controversy over the so-called "status quo," or balance of power plan in the regulation of banking in this state.

Monett who was appearing in favor of the Spaulding-Wright bill, which would grant the Bank of Italy the right to form branch banks in districts where 20 per cent of the residents favor their establishment, took exception to Oliver's rebarks concerning his motives in appearing before the committee.

"You are a liar," Monett declared, "jumping to his feet and endeavoring to reach Oliver.

"You are a d—— liar," retorted Oliver.

"If you continue those statements I will punch your nose clear through your face," exclaimed the angered banker.

Members of the committee ended the argument by separating the two men and announcing that the bill would be tabled.

The argument had its inception in charges that the Bank of Italy actually controls seventeen banks in Los Angeles, instead of four, Oliver contended that the Bank of America, represented by Monett, was virtually owned by the Bank of Italy.

The Graves bill, which was introduced by opponents of the branch bank movement, and which would have granted the state bank superintendent power to deny permits for chain banking in California, was also tabled.

France will hereafter deduct from wages of foreign workers there, a monthly tax of $12.

TRIAL STRAIN IS TOO MUCH FOR GIRL

Dorothy Ellingson Faints For Third Time Going Into Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Dorothy Ellingson completely collapsed at the close of the morning session of the third day of her trial here today falling in a dead faint on the marble floor of the corridor leading from the courtroom. Her head struck the floor and her hat flew off. Entirely limp she was picked up and carried to the jury room where first aid treatment was given her.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Just as she was about to enter the courtroom today for the third day of her trial Dorothy Ellingson broke down for the third time since going to trial.

Piercing shrieks from the jury room were heard in the courtroom and the girl matricide became so hysterical that her entry to the courtroom was halted and opening of court held up.

Newspaper photographers had been taking pictures of the girl preceding her breakdown. She had appeared at the Hall of Justice looking wan and pale. Several minor cases prevented her case being called immediately and it was during this interval that the girl became hysterical.

Her attorneys and friends were genuinely alarmed over the girl's condition and expressed fear that in the event of a long drawn out trial her strength would not hold out.

They say the girl's nerves are taut and at the breaking point. Only her unusual amount of self-command due to her youth enables her to keep herself under control according to those in close contact with her.

Dorothy gave a semblance of composure within a few moments and entered the courtroom for the resumption of her trial. Twitching hands and an occasional tear which she brushed angrily away betrayed the nervous strain under which she was laboring. She again wore the long black coat with the fur collar, wrapping it closely about her.

The tedious work of securing a jury was resumed. Edward Cohn quickly disqualified himself by stating he had a fixed opinion on the case. Mrs. Dora Riche was the next juror called to the box for examination. She declared her belief that she could give the defendant a fair and unbiased trial.

May Delay Case

When Dorothy fainted as she was leaving the courtroom, her father rushed to the corridor but arrived after she had been picked up and carried into the jury room. He entered the room and assisted in chafing her cold wrists. Attorney Alexander Mooslin, Dorothy's chief counsel, announced that he would seek to have her examined by physicians to determine whether it was safe to continue the trial in her present highly nervous state.

A physician was summoned from the county jail when she failed to respond to the first aid treatment and restoratives were given by him. It was fifteen minutes later, however, before she began to show signs of returning consciousness and the physician from a superficial examination said he believed she had suffered no serious injury from her fall, although a more extensive examination was to be made.

Dr. Arthur A. O'Neill, city physician, was summoned and made a thorough examination of the girl at the request of defense counsel. It was stated that upon his findings would be based a statement to the court regarding the girl's condition. It was said that if the physician found it advisable a recess might be asked to permit the girl to recover, or the trial even halted entirely. The matter, it was said, would be left to Judge Harold Louderback for decision upon the report of the physician.

Local Woman Injured When Struck By Auto

Mrs. Jed Van Luven of 1223 East Colorado boulevard was slightly injured last night when she was knocked down by a car at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Chevy Chase drive. The car was driven by John H. Janset of 321 South Glendale avenue, according to a police report.

Mrs. A. C. R. Pierce of Hollywood was arrested late yesterday afternoon at Glendale boulevard and the Southern Pacific tracks, and was brought to police headquarters, where she was pronounced under the influence of intoxicating liquor. A charge of reckless driving was lodged against her.

Carl Seybold and Paul Farnsworth, local boys, report theft yesterday of their bicycles.

NOTED TRAGEDIAN TO PRESENT PLAY

Tyrone Powers Authorized To Arrange Drama For Hollywood Bowl

At a meeting of the Hollywood Bowl association, Tyrone Powers, the noted actor and tragedian, spoke on the movement to combine music, art and drama and clearly pointed out the advantages of presenting spoken plays in the bowl. In response to his appeal, Mrs. J. J. Carter placed him in charge of arrangements to produce and present a series of plays.

With the amount of valuable talent available in Hollywood, and with the natural setting of the Bowl, a presentation of the spoken drama such as Tyrone Powers recommends would give Southern California international publicity of a value which could not be estimated in dollars.

Now that the Los Angeles county board of supervisors has made an appropriation for the bowl and the announcement of the All-Year Advertising club to nationally advertise the bowl, musical and dramatic artists will solicit the opportunity of appearing before 20,000 or 30,000 persons, under the unique conditions made possible only through the Hollywood bowl.

NEED ADDITIONAL FIREMEN

RIVERSIDE, March 25.—That the Riverside fire department needs an increase in personnel of twenty-one men, including the fire chief, and expenditure of $35,000 on new equipment in addition to further extensive improvements of the water system in order to give this community adequate protection and justify present insurance rates was the opinion expressed by Bailey H. Patterson, Riverside insurance man, at a meeting of the Rotary club.

MUST ELIMINATE DUST

FULLERTON, March 25.—Under a decision of Judge F. C. Drumm of the Orange county superior court, the Los Angeles Paving Co. must cease operations until machinery is installed that will eliminate the creation of a dust screen that settles on nearby orange groves. Fullerton may lose one of its leading manufacturng plants as a result, it is said. "If this decision is binding I will say that every paving plant in California can be driven from its present location, and perhaps from any location," E. R. Werdin, president of the company, said.

BOND ISSUE FAVORED

SAN BERNARDINO, March 25.—The Chamber of Commerce will engage in an active campaign to put over the proposed bond issue of $450,000 for a new courthouse, as planned by the board of supervisors. A bond issue has been decided upon in lieu of a direct tax levy.

ANTI-SALOON MEN LOSE

SAN DIEGO, March 25.—Operatives of the California Intelligence bureau, who have been active in San Diego county for six weeks, must look elsewhere than to the county treasurer for their pay. The Board of Supervisors has flatly refused to order payment of a claim of $2,072.70, submitted by the dry sleuths who already have been paid the sum of $500 from the county funds. District-Attorney Kempley informed the board that he had authorized the bureau to put operatives here to check the manufacture and sale of illicit liquor. He told the bureau men he would approve their claims up to $500 and has paid them this amount from the funds allotted to his office for investigation work. He refused to recommend that the board pay the additional sum. The "Intelligence Bureau" operates under the direction of the Anti-Saloon league and this organization probably will have to reimburse the operatives. Four of them worked 46 days in this county and made a number of arrests, most of the defendants pleading guilty when arraigned.

Recess Appointment Is Made, Slap At Senate

WASHINGTON, March 25.—President Coolidge took another thrust at the Senate today by giving a recess appointment to Thomas F. Woodlock, New York financial writer, as member of the Interstate Commerce commission.

At both the regular and extra sessions, the Senate, because of opposition of southern Democrats, refused to confirm Woodlock. Democrats demanded that the vacancy on the commission be given a man from the south.

Southwest Aeronautical Body To Be Made Permanent At San Diego

Organization of a Southwest Aeronautical association, undertaken during the air rodeo held in Glendale two weeks ago, will be completed at a meeting of the organization committee at San Diego on Saturday, April 11, according to an announcement by Dr. T. C. Young today.

Dr. Young and Secretary Howard I. Wood of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the committee, will represent Glendale. Others who will attend will be Lieut. C. P. Kane, Ross field, Arcadia, representing the army; Earle Ovington, Santa Barbara; A. L. Oliger, Santa Ana; A. E. Isham, Redlands, president of the States Secretarial association; Frank H. Page, San Diego, and Elliott Barrett, attorney for the Commercial Aircraft association.

Each member of the committee will come to the meeting prepared to advance his idea of the best plan for organization, Dr. Young said. There will be no preconceived plan put forth by anyone. The full cooperation of army men in the Ninth corps area is pledged to the movement, set on foot in Glendale, Dr. Young said.

Col. Frank Lahm, chief of aeronautics in the Ninth district, has offered the full support of his office. Col. Lahm was in conference with Dr. Young the early part of this week. Recommendations made by the army men that the organization include the entire southwest in its scope will be considered at the meeting at San Diego.

SNOW SCENES ARE OCCUPYING FILMS

Four Hollywood Companies At Truckee; Income Tax Scare Worries

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, March 25.—Frank Lloyd's company has returned from Truckee in Nevada county, where they were filming Alaskan scenes for Rex Beach's "Winds of Chance." A miniature mining camp, another Dawson City, was built across the river from Truckee and for three days inhabited by about two hundred "sourdoughs" who were recruited from the labor agencies of Sacramento. The only thing lacking in their makeup being true to form was whiskers and these were promptly provided.

Bert Lytell and the Stereoscopic Productions company, which also was "shooting" snow scenes at Truckee, also is back to the land of sunshine and flowers with Lytell recuperating from a nasty plunge down a precipitous mountain side. But the snows in the mountains are still good for another month of photographic effort, the returning players report. William Fox has a comedy company on location while Universal sent out a company last week-end. The Fox company is making comedy and having a glorious time, according to news dispatches. They have Johnny Rabin, champion ski jumper, doing his stuff.

Jacqueline Logan is the star of Universal's production, "Peacock Feathers," on location at Truckee.

Investigation by the government of film players' income tax returns may be the indirect cause of some very expensive publicity, it was indicated in filmland's capital today. It will be remembered that Doug Fairbanks and Harold Lloyd ran away with the field in reporting earnings. But several are said to have lived high and failed to "pay the piper" when it came to settling with Uncle Sam in years past.

"The little scare now passing over Hollywood may teach the film stars thrift," one business manager ventured today. "Few of them know how much they spend with the result of many high salaried artists becoming bankrupt."

MRS. DENNISTOUN BANKRUPT, CLAIM

Counsel Says Woman Is In Need Of Judgment Against Colonel

LONDON, March 25.—Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun must go to the bankruptcy courts unless she receives a judgment with costs on the $30,000 verdict reached by a jury in her suit against Colonel Ian Dennistoun, Sir Ellis Hume Williams, her attorney, told the court today.

Justice McCardie ruled out a claim for 616 pounds sterling which Mrs. Dennistoun claimed she had paid on behalf of her former husband. The justice said it fell outside of the statute of limitations.

Social repercussions from the hornets' nest of scandal stirred by the Dennistoun case were being registered today as counsel, judge and jury assembled for the judge's decision. The jury yesterday awarded Mrs. Dorothy Dennistoun $25,000 damages and $6,000 debt claims against her former husband, Colonel Ian Dennistoun.

Hurt by Scandal

It was understood today that Colonel Dennistoun is resigning from the exclusive Guards' club and also giving up his memberships in his other clubs.

Considerable antipathy has been stirred up against those who dragged into the scandal the name of Sir John Cowans, late quartermaster general of the British army.

This was strikingly evidenced in the open letter written by the Earl of Birkenhead, member of the Baldwin cabinet, who defended the soldier who was a hero to the British public at the time of his death.

Justice McCardie announced that he could not find a verdict on the whole case for Colonel Dennistoun, and then adjourned the case until tomorrow, although legal arguments had not been completed. The statement of the judge was taken by court lawyers to indicate Mrs. Dennistoun would get but little of the decision.

Local Postoffice Now Has New Hiring Policy

A change in the United States postal ruling, placing the hiring of help in the postoffice department into the hands of the local civil service secretary, went into effect in Glendale today. Heretofore all employes of the department have been selected by the postmaster from the roster recommended by the civil service department. The new system is now on trial in the civil service district of which Glendale is a part, and, if successful here, will be adopted over the entire nation, George Hallett, assistant postmaster said. Norman Ashcroft, civil service secretary in Glendale, has taken over the work here.

ORPHEUM'S BILL REALLY DOUBLE

Ted Lewis, His Hat And His Musical Clowns; Other Great Acts, Also

There's really a double bill at the Orpheum theatre in Los Angeles this week, all for the price of one admission—and buy 'em early!

It's the second big week of Ted Lewis and his band and, of course, Miss Bobbe Arnst. Ted Lewis, his hat and his musical clowns, masters of syncopated music, will not let you sit on your hands. And Ted Lewis is generous with his encores—that's why it's a double bill at the Orpheum. Ted Lewis and his company provide one show and the remainder of the program—a well balanced one, by the way—gives another big show. Hundreds of Glendale people will attend the Orpheum this week—and buy 'em early!

There's a real juggling act that's different, with a Rube Goldberg finish. Kharum, the Persian pianist, is billed in "an Oriental novelty." It's more than that, for the Persian is a wonderful pianist, an accomplished musician, a thrilling player.

Big Musical Program

"Signor Friscoe" and his Guatemalan ensemble provide a musical program that's filled with novel twists. The "signor" is liberal with encores. Kimberly & Page offer "The Heart Broker," a skit that offers advice to the lovelorn. Little Miss Berdie Reeve, the world's fastest typist, plays on the typewriter like it was a piano. Princeton & Watson present a pleasing comedy skit that's a knockout and the program concludes with the Griffin twins—are they boys or girls?

Dempsey Starts Work On New Picture Today

The picture started today will be completed in about two months, it was announced. If the first film featuring the Dempseys proves a success, it is understood that several others may follow.

NEED KNOWLEDGE OF REAL TRUTHS

Christian Science Committee Member Writes Relative To Bible Teachings

Editor The Evening News—In your issue of March 17 mention is made of a pastor's announcement that a chart had been distributed in Glendale which attacked his church, Christian Science, and others.

In the chart, under the "Word of God," the compiler has listed Scriptural quotations which in their Biblical wording are a source of inspiration to Christian Scientists and all Christian people; but he has done Christian Science an injustice by classifying it under the heading of "error." An understanding of God, Christ Jesus, Holy Spirit, sin, atonement, salvation and retribution (the subjects he discusses), when obtained from the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, has brought to many seekers the fruits of health, sound morals, happiness, peace, and increased mental capacity. The chart quotes the Master: "By their fruits ye shall know them," and all that a Christian Scientist asks is that his religion be judged by its fruits.

Founded On Bible

Christian Science is founded upon the teachings of the Bible. The whole trend of the Bible is to show that the Supreme Being is Spirit and Love, incorporeal and good; that His Son, the Christ, is the expression of God—the spiritual idea or activity; and that man, the real spiritual individuality, made in the image and likeness of God, is the reflection of God's perfection, sustained and governed harmoniously by His law. This Biblical teaching is the absolute fact, the truth about God and man.

Christ Jesus said "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free. Therefore, knowledge of this truth about God and man frees mankind from evil and disease. This freedom is evidently a right to which mankind is entitled—an inalienable right which comes from God. In the law, fixed inalienable rights are understood to be "absolute" or "real"; and human privileges are understood to be "relative," or dependent upon the opinions of mortals. Webster defines the "real" in the law as pertaining to that which is "fixed, permanent, or immovable." Then the unreal pertains to the movable, changeable and temporary. In a study of the Bible and Mrs. Eddy's writings it is necessary to differentiate between the absolute facts about God's man and the relative conditions which mortals are striving to overcome.

Freedom In Truth

Since a knowledge of the truth will make men free, it is a knowledge of evil which leads them into bondage—and shackles them to sin, sickness and death. Overlooking or excusing sin cannot benefit man, but the knowledge that God did not make evil; that He does not know evil; and that men need not fear evil, as stated by Mrs. Eddy in "Unity of Good" (p. 20), will help mankind to overcome sin and prove it unreal.

Mrs. Eddy's writings clearly show that sin must be overcome, and that it is forgiven only as it is forsaken. In "Science and Health," she says that "the sinner would make a reality of sin—would make that real which is unreal"; that "Only those, who repent of sin and forsake the unreal, can fully understand the unreality of evil". (p. 339) She says also: "To prove scientifically the error or unreality of sin, you must first see the claim of sin, and then destroy by eliminating evil knowledge; and this leads to the atonement, or the "at-one-ment", wherein man is God-like—"at-one" with the Perfect Creator.

Healing of Sick

God did not make sin, sickness and death. Christ Jesus came to show us how to overcome these, and to gain the full salvation. He turned his followers towards the truth, never towards evil, and he gave direct commands that those who believe on him should heal the sick as he did. Just as a child makes mistakes in arithmetic and suffers the consequences, so do the followers of Christ suffer for their mistakes until they are corrected. The false knowledge must be intelligently overcome before freedom is assured.

Christ Jesus was willing to suffer the utmost humiliation and the greatest sacrifice when he allowed men to crucify him on Calvary, and this shedding of the Master's blood was to show his students that they too should willingly make great sacrifices in their efforts to obtain a knowledge of the truth.

We must learn more of the truth and profit from the teachings of Christ Jesus. Thus we shall be more loving, more honest and more healthy.. This does not mean "shutting our eyes" to evil and disease, but it does mean mentally rejecting them as falsities and impositions unknown to God and not made by Him.

Respectfully,
ALBERT E. LOMBARD,
Christian Science Committee on Publication.

DARKENED WINDOWS

By CORNELIA KANE RATHBONE

But Graham had no more theories to offer. The two men left the house together, and walked in silence as far as the corner of the street. Then Graham drew Evadne's letter from his pocket and approached the postbox. Inadvertently he held the envelope with the address uppermost, and Flint's quick eye lit upon it. In an instant his hand was on Graham's arm.

"What are you doing?" he asked sharply.

"Posting this for Mrs. Hurst."

"My dear Mr. Graham, you can't do that!" Flint exclaimed. "That letter is addressed to a house we're suspicious of. It's the house Mrs. Hurst tried to get on the telephone. I'm not mistaken, am I? The number is 333, isn't it?"

Graham turned the envelope quickly over. "No gentleman looks at the address of a letter which a lady asks him to post," he said haughtily.

"Well, I'm not a gentleman, I'm just a detective, and my job is to find out who murdered Hannibal Hurst; it's a big job, and I can't afford to leave a stone unturned. This is no kid-glove affair, Mr. Graham. I'm sorry, but I've got to see that letter?"

Graham's eyes glittered ominously. "Not on your life!" he cried hotly. "Mrs. Hurst has no connection whatever with her husband's murder—I'd stake my life on that. This letter is a personal matter, and a woman's personal matters are sacred."

"Do you know what is in that letter?"

"I do not; I have no wish to know."

Flint surveyed the excited young man gravely. Something like sympathetic understanding looked out of the round spectacles, even while the tightening of his thin lips told of unshakable determination.

"Just look at it this way, Mr. Graham," he urged. "Mrs. Hurst's intercourse with this particular house looks bad—I tell you that frankly. The house is under suspicion for reasons which I can't disclose just now. And, every one connected with it is under suspicion, too. Now the contents of that letter may prove her connection with the person in that house to be a perfectly innocent one. Besides that, it may remove any other suspicions which Inspector Breitman and I may have had of her. There may be something in it which will account for her rather unfortunate testimony last night, and prove her improbable story true.

"You say you are convinced that she is in no way implicated in her husband's murder. Well, then, would you let a sentiment, a scruple, stand in the way of my being convinced, too?"

Graham looked away uneasily, nervously fingering the letter. The Flint whom he had been drawn to, whom he thought he knew, was gone. It was a new man who confronted him, a new, unguessed at force.

"Mrs. Hurst is under suspicion," shot out this new Flint. "That letter may prove her innocent. Can you afford to throw away a chance of exonerating her? Or—are you afraid?"

The question came like the sharp snap of a whip. Graham paled.

"I'm not afraid," he muttered, "but—"

Flint's lifted shoulders, and the scornful twist of his expressive lips were eloquent. With a gesture which cast away all responsibility, and seemed to say. "On your own head be it," he swung on his heel.

"Wait," Graham's voice uncertain, troubled, betrayed how heavily the burden of decision weighed on him. Never before had he faced a vital issue. He had drifted pleasantly down easy, inevitable paths neatly kept and trimly bordered, and now suddenly he had come unprepared upon a crossroad whose signboard he could not read. "Wait," he repeated. "If you think—if you are sure—"

"I don't think; I'm not sure," Flint hurled back. "I only say there is a chance. Will you give her this chance? Or do you consider it too big a gamble? There is the question."

The two men faced one another, eye meeting eye. Graham felt primordial instincts rising in him. He understood again the savage joy of killing. Hot hatred of the man who was cleverly forcing his hand surged over him. Flint's eyes continued to challenge him; his own shifted. Was he afraid? Answering the old note of fear this struck, came again the response as if whispered by some inner, prompting voice: "Help Thou mine unbelief." For a moment longer he hesitated. Then he held the letter out to Flint. "Well, take it!" he said shortly.

Flint gave no outward sign of satisfaction. "Arthur Fitzpatrick, good name Fitzpatrick," he commented as he scanned the envelope. "Hardly stuck—that's lucky."

Graham did not hear the last words. He was listening again to Denis Mahar's shrill cry: "Ask her who Arthur is."

"Shall I read it to you?" Flint asked.

Graham nodded. He felt he must know in what relation to her this Arthur stood. The temptation was too great—he must know.

There was no formal heading. I tried to telephone you in spite of your forbidding me (it began).

I thought that what I had to say warranted the risk, but I couldn't get your number. Besides, I think somebody was listening in downstairs. Perhaps I can't get this to you—I don't know. For you were right, they do suspect me. I was so upset last night that I bungled things. I am watched and followed—I feel it. So whatever you do, don't try to communicate with me, and don't come near the house. How I wish you had taken the diamonds! They found them in by bag, and I think that made them suspect me more. And now I can do nothing to help you! Oh, my dear, my dear, it is horrible, but I must say it—I'm glad! glad!! glad!!!

Think what it means—I'm free! Now by and by we can leave this terrible town where we have both suffered so much. But till then I can't help being afraid—horribly afraid for us both. Evadne.

There was a moment of tense silence.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Graham," said Flint, gently. "I told you it was a gamble, you know."

Graham's fists clinched; his every muscle grew taut. "You're a low-down spy" he cried, through tightly-locked teeth, and strode away blindly down the street.

Flint stood on the corner for several minutes looking after him.

"Poor chap! I wish I hadn't had to do that," he muttered.

John Graham probably suffered more in that short walk to the Grand Central station than he had ever suffered in the course of his twenty-odd pleasant, prosperous years. Bitter self-condemnation lashed and tortured him. He had been weak beyond belief, treacherous, disloyal. He had betrayed the woman he loved when he should have shielded her with his life. He had delivered her, defenseless, into the hands of Flint—Flint who had fooled him to the top of his bent, who was doubtless laughing at him now in his sleeve. Probably from the first he had been leading him on, watching for him to fall into some such trap. He had pretended to be open with him, to let him see all the workings of the machine. But in reality did he know what Flint actually thought about anything? The detective was like a prestidigitator with his tricks. He had said: "See, I will take you into the secret; I will show you how it is done; it is very simple. I do this and this, and this, and behold!" And you indeed behold, but you do not see. You complain. "Ah, you did not see!" he exclaims in surprise. "Then I will do it again, slowly, very slowly. Look, I hold the egg in my hand—thus. I do thus, and thus—you see? Yes, I lift the handkerchief—thus—and behold! The bird of paradise! You see!" But you do not see; you never see.

Graham cursed himself for his credulity. But, besides his anger against Flint and against himself and his distress for Evadne, another sharper pain gnawed deep—the thought that he had come too late; that another man had won the one thing on earth which now seemed to him worth winning. But even so, he vowed himself to her service. She could never be his, but fight for her still he must, if only to undo the harm he had done. By the time he reached the station he had advanced from the period of primeval man, hot with blood lust, to the days of medieval chivalry. In him lived again the "perfect knight" ready to lay down his life for his lady, asking neither recognition nor reward.

UNCLE WIGGILY IN THE MUD

"Wait a minute, Uncle Wiggily—wait a minute!" called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to the rabbit gentleman as he was hopping from the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"What is it now?" asked Mr. Longears, turning around and pinkling his twink nose sort of gentle like and resigned. "Do you want a pound of butter or some sugar from the three and four cent store?"

"Neither one," answered Nurse Jane with a smile, which made her whiskers curl around behind her ears. "I shall not trouble you to do any errands for me. Hop along and seek an adventure where you will," she went on, speaking moving picture like. "But what I want to know is—have you your rubbers?"

"No, I haven't my rubbers on," answered the bunny, looking down at his paws. "I don't need rubbers today!"

"Yes, you do!" insisted the muskrat lady housekeeper. "It may be dry here, around your bungalow, but when you get off in the woods and fields you'll be in the wet, mucky, mushy mud and you'll need rubbers. Come right back and put them on!"

Nurse Jane had to speak this way—as if to a child—very often where Uncle Wiggily was concerned. For he was jolly, full of fun, always twinkling his pink nose and the like of that, and he did not always think of what was good for himself.

"Come right back this instant and put on your rubbers!" said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, positive like and commanding.

"Oh—all right!" answered the bunny, giving himself a little shake.

When he had his rubbers on he started off once more to seek an adventure. At first the woods and fields were quite dry, for the water from the rain and melting snow had run off into brooks and ponds. And the bunny, seeing this, said:

"I didn't need my rubbers at all. Nurse Jane was too fussy!"

Hardly had he said this, however, than he reached a place where the ground was wet and swampy, and, had it not been for his rubbers, Uncle Wiggily would have got his paws wet.

"Perhaps Nurse Jane was wiser than I knew," he said. "I can hop along very nicely now, to look for an adventure." But though he looked this way and that and, the other way, not an adventure could he find. At last the rabbit saw a dark, swampy place in the woods, and on the other side of it was a large rock.

"There may be an adventure hiding behind that rock," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "I'll cross the wet and mucky place and see what happens."

No sooner said than done—at least Uncle Wiggily started across the mucky place, but he had not gone very far before he was stuck in the mud. First one paw was caught, and then the other, and the bunny was held fast.

"Um! Not so good!" murmured Mr. Longears to himself as he stood there in the mucky place. "But I must not give up so easily! I'll pull myself out!" So lifting one paw as hard as he could, he pulled that from the mud. Then he pulled out the other paw, and with a long jump he was safely across the mucky place on firm ground.

But alas! His rubbers were left behind in the mud.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the bunny. "This will never do! I can't go home without my rubbers. Nurse Jane would scold." He was wondering how he could get his rubbers from where they were stuck in the mud when, all of a sudden, out from behind the big rock came the Woozie Wolf, who had been hiding there.

"Oh, Mr. Wolf!" cried Uncle Wiggily, "I suppose you are going to nibble my ears, but before you do so, will you please go in the mud and bring out my rubbers? Nurse Jane will scold me if I don't wear them. Please get my rubbers for me."

"All right!" growled the Wolf. "But after I get them I'll nibble your ears." Into the mud waded the Wolf, but when he reached the middle of the mucky place he was stuck, and caught fast as the bunny had been. "Oh, I'm in a trap!" howled the Wolf. And before he could pull his paws out to get the bunny, Uncle Wiggily ran safely home.

"It is better to lose your rubbers than your ears," said the bunny, when Nurse Jane asked him what happened. And the muskrat lady said that was very true, so she didn't scold. And, if a seed doesn't pop out of the apple when it's on teacher's desk and draw a funny picture on the blackboard, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and his handkerchief.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

STYES

"Dear Doctor Peters: Lately, I've been troubled with numerous styes on one eye. I have had at least 12 of them, if not more. They are quite small in size, although I did have one that looked ugly. Have been watching my diet and have cut down on all sweets; also, I bathe the eyes with a hot boracic acid solution which helps rid them within a few days. Please tell me what to do about them and how to prevent them.

"Is it true that styes help to strengthen the eyes?—A. T."

Get a little tube of 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury and massage the lids gently with a little of that each night. This will help you get rid of the crop.

No, it is not true that styes help to "strengthen" the eyes. They may be an indication that the eyes are weak. You should see an occulist.

Sometimes eye strain will so weaken the eye that it is predisposed to infections. It is not unusual at all to have one stye follow the other, unless the treatment is continued for a long time after the first stye. They are caused by pus germs.

BREAD 'N' BUTTER

"My dear Dr. Peters: I wonder if you still like to keep on hearing from your Kalorie Kids after they are all reduced 'n' everything?

"After my third baby was born, I weighed 220. I now hover fairly around 170, which seems to be my best weight. (I am five feet seven inches tall.) I went down to 160, but felt pretty low and tired and looked old—I am "only 38" last month, so should not look so should I?

"To keep at my correct weight, I have but to go light on one thing—bread and butter. If I eat three meals a day and keep away from sandwiches, go to gym once a week, and carry on my usual routine of a little bit of everything, I don't gain or lose. To lose, I have to diet pretty closely. I do not care for sweets, but do crave bulk, and all sorts of hot breads and sandwiches.

"From force of habit, I usually go without lunch. For breakfast, I could easily run up to 400-500 on toast, so try to stick to 100 calories of health bread. Then another for 100 for lunch, and I have a clear slate for debauchery in the evening meal, which, of course, I don't want, and don't eat much of, with my thoroughly cowed and shrunken tummy.

"You know how much better I feel from my last letter, and as soon as I find some old films and have new ones taken, you will know how much better I look.—Mrs. D."

Yes, indeed, I like to hear from the Kalorie Kids, Mrs. D. I am running your letter because it brings out so many interesting points.

This cutting down on the bread and butter, for instance, is good.

I have had letters from others of the followers, who find that they like best to have a few calories in the morning and at noon, and then a decent meal at night, and they keep their weights down in that manner. It is true that after eating very little all day, instead of being able to eat a big meal, the "thoroughly cowed and shrunken tummy" is satisfied with moderate meals.

Mrs. B.—We have a pamphlet on the care of the scalp and hair you may have by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope with your request.

Tomorrow—Answers To Correspondents.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e., if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

So many of my readers write to ask for a Hot Tamale recipe. The real Mexican Tamale is sheathed in corn husks, which are cut about one inch from the stalk and then sterilized in boiling water, drained and dried thoroughly. If this process is followed, the husks may be stored for a considerable length of time in a cool, dry place; when needed, they are made pliable by being soaked in boiling water then wiped with a cloth dipped in hot lard. Double thickness of sterilized cheesecloth will have to be used in place of the corn husks if the housekeeper wishes to make the tamales at this time of year and has no stored husks on hand.

The Stuffing for the Corn Husks: Below are given recipes for Cornmeal Mixture and Meat Mixture. The Cornmeal Mixture is first spread on the corn husk in a strip about four inches long, one and one-half inches wide and one-fourth inch in thickness. Upon this strip of cornmeal paste, one heaping tablespoon of the Meat Mixture is placed. Then the husk is rolled over this entire filling and the ends tied securely with narrow strips from other corn husks. When you have enough tamales prepared in this way, place them in a wire strainer over rapidly boiling water, cover, and steam in this manner for several hours. There is no danger of over-cooking.

Cornmeal Mixture: Rub two tablespoons of lard into one quart of yellow cornmeal with the fingers then add two tablespoons of salt and enough boiling water to make a thick dough. The mixture is then ready to be spread on the corn husk.

Meat Mixture: Chicken makes the most delicious tamale in the opinion of many housewives. But veal is a good substitute for the chicken, and beef or pork may be used if preferred. But whichever meat you choose, have it chopped, and place one pound of it in your frying pan with one heaping tablespoon of lard and a pinch of salt; let fry till tender, then chop again very finely, return it to the pan, and add enough warm water to moisten slightly and the pulp of two red peppers. To get this red pepper pulp, toast the peppers in the oven till their skins come off easily, then cut off the stems, remove seeds and veins, and put the remainder of the peppers through the food chopper and mash to a smooth paste. After adding this pepper pulp to the meat, fry a few seconds longer before using in the tamale.

Chats On Beauty

CARE OF THE HAIR

There is one bad thing about the fashion for bobbing the hair. Those who wear their hair short forget to brush it every day. Why bother brushing when a comb slid through it a few times is enough to make it lie smooth, when a tiny pocket comb in the purse will keep it neat while one is away from home? So the brush goes into a corner of the dressing table drawer and there it stays, unused.

All very well, but the hair needs brushing. It cleans the hair and it cleans and stimulates the scalp. It does not much matter whether the brush is of stubby, bristles set in an elastic rubber cushion, or whether it is made of bunches of longer bristles, closely set together. And good brush contains enough bristles to clean the hair if it is used often enough. I prefer white bristle brushes for the simple reason that they show dirt at once and remind me to wash the brush. And because the brush should be washed thoroughly in soap and hot water at least once a week, it seems foolish to buy an expensive one for the sake of its back, if the dressing table set is expensive. It seems too bad that we cannot have detachable brush backs and handles, so the bristle part could be taken out, washed and put back, and occasionally renewed, as easily as we change the chamois on a nail polisher.

If you don't believe brushing takes dirt from the hair, let your white brush go a few weeks without washing, then look at the black water that comes as soon as you soak it. That dirt was all on your hair, remember. If you don't believe your hair carries an appalling amount of dirt even a few days after a shampoo, wet a flannel with hair tonic or toilet water and wipe over the surface and rub through the hair. The flannel over your fingers will be black.

Nell: I do not think that the olive oil has had anything to do with pores becoming coarse. An important thing to remember is the need to close the pores after every time you open them, either when washing with warm water or when using a cream. If you are not in the habit of taking a full daily bath, the pores of the complexion are apt to be overtaxed, and that will cause them to become enlarged. The remedy is a full, warm bath, and the complexion refines without giving it any special attention. When using olive oil as a cosmetic, get the very best brands sold for table use.

PICKS SENATORS TO WIN PENNANT

Walsh Believes Washington Will Wind Up On Top; Takes Big Chance

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 25.—After due deliberation and a vague sense of unease in the vicinity of the abdomen, the writer has selected the Washington Senators as the best ball club in the American league, for the season of 1925, in much the same manner that he might decide one peanut pod is better than half a dozen others. There happens to be eight clubs in the American league and six of them figure as actual contenders. The best thing about this business of pre-race pennant picking is that no one remembers the selections in October.

The remaining contenders, any of which may rise up to confound me in subsequent months, are the Detroit Tigers, the New York Yanks, the Cleveland Indians, the Athletics and the St. Louis Browns.

The teams are named in the following order, not because they are in duty bound to observe the order of march, but because I happen to believe they will finish that way.

1—Washington.
2—Detroit.
3—New York.
4—St. Louis.
5—Philadelphia.
6—Cleveland.
7—Chicago.
8—Boston.

The only selection over which I feel absolutely at ease is the Boston Red Sox. If they run better than eighth at the wire, it will be up to all concerned to tear up their dope sheets and eat the pieces. The White Sox are a different matter. They finished last in 1924 but didn't belong there, and with the popular Collins in command, may forget the past and make a fool out of the present.

Senators Better

The Senators have the impetus of last year's victory behind them and are much improved in pitching and reserve infield material. If Peckinpaugh carries on, I don't see how the Senators can lose. Perhaps the Tigers might arrange the matter, for it is no secret that Cobb has assembled one of the strongest clubs in baseball. Just what he will do with it remains with the immediate future.

The Athletics are the same outfit that came with a rush last year, plus Lefty Groves. If that young man is as good as they say he is, it will be hard to keep the Athletics out of third place, yet the club lacks steadiness and cohesion and this race promises to be to the eternally swift.

Cleveland with its patchy infield and uncertain pitching, expects to finish in the first division. I don't think it will, for the reasons stated. In an ordinary year the Indians would be dangerous, but this one figures to be about as ordinary as a rubber collar at the charity ball.

Walker May Fight In San Francisco Ring

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Mickey Walker, world's welter champion, and Lefty Cooper of Minneapolis, have been matched for a title match here in May at Dreamland arena, it was reported here today. Dreamland promoters said the match had not been definitely signed, but Walker had agreed to defend his title here at an early date.

WILMINGTON—Dandy Dillon vs. Sailor Richie King, main event, ten rounds. Paddy McNulty vs. Marty Kane, semi-windup, six rounds. Three other bouts complete the card.

Canada has a spurt in building.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

TAMPA, Fla., March 25.—This training city of the world champion Washington Americans is all "het up" over a bump that has appeared on the leg of its one and only Walter Johnson.

Walter ran around the field in practice the other day and the bump appeared. It was just a little knot, and one which the Washington trainer insists is not serious, but it caused Johnson to cease running around.

And that was enough to spread gloom over Tampa. The folks here don't like to think that anything but good luck can happen to Johnson. More than ever, Tampaites have annexed the big pitcher. They are saying now that Walter is to settle down and become a part of the Tampa population next spring.

Real estate is the business to which, it is said, the great Walter will devote his attention. Marquard, the old Giant southpaw is tossing out real estate over in St. Petersburg now. It is astonishing how famous ball players can succeed in real estate when their baseball sun has begun to set.

But returning to Johnson and his bump. Despite the bump, Walter is due for a season even better than his 1924 performance, when he helped pitch Washington into the world series and then into the championship—if you want to believe the old commission merchant with whom Johnson talks business and crops in his leisure time.

"First of all," the Johnsonian vis-a-vis said, "Walter did not go into any baseball business for himself. I call that pretty good for him. He was not fitted to go into minor league baseball. If he'd gotten into that game he'd a been as fussed up as when he was pitching those world series games in Washington. But I know he would come through as in New York. There wasn't anybody in Florida who could tell me Walter would not get there—and he did.

"If he had got into the baseball business, he would have had a lot to think about besides his own pitchin'—and he would have had to pay himself out of his own pocket, because if the business did not make good it would cost him his savings. Now he is independent. He is working, just as I told him, for his income. I said to Walter:

" 'Boy, this is just interest on the time you have been in baseball and you let Clark Griffith pay it to you as long as he thinks it is the easiest thing for him to do."

"What makes you think that Walter will have a better year than he did last season?" the writer interrupted.

"Because he's got that darned world series out of his system. Last spring, when it was so cold down here, we used to sit here talking around the oil stove about the high price of dollars and the low price of oranges and Walter every now and then would hint at that world series some day. I could see it was on his mind and I told him, just to cheer him up, that I thought it was going to break right for him to pitch in it in 1924. And darned if it didn't.

"But you see, he had that on his mind all last season. Now he has pitched in his first world series. All he will be thinking about this season will be pitching in his second world series. And it's a mighty sight easier to do a thing the second time, after you have had experience, than it is the first time.

'That's why I say that Walter is a little better than last season.

"His leg? Sho'—that's nothing. No leg will keep him out of baseball, although a lot of folks gets worried over it. If it was my leg nobody would worry. It does beat all how the whole bunch of us get so all-fired warmed up over the arms and legs of these here ball players.

"But Walter will be just as good as he was, maybe a little bit better. You wait and see if I'm not right."

All foreigners resident in France for more than two weeks now must pay a tax of about $14.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

By HAROLD JOHNSON
For International News Service

SHREVEPORT, La., March 25.—Baseball prognosticators who annually grapple with the dope, venturing opinions on the pennant outlook, will be guilty of no miscalculations in the event they proclaim Comiskey's White Sox full blown dark horse entry. This is the judgment of diamond veterans and writers who have observed the club which in 1924 finished in the American league basement twenty-five games behind the champion Senators.

During three weeks intensive training here under the leadership of Manager Eddie Collins, a fighting spirit such as characterized the pale hose of 1917, again prevails in the camp. It is generated by Collins and his dynamic direction of the squad, whether in games against minor leaguers or among the split sections of the Sox themselves, has been an outstanding feature of the daily proceedings. Collins, beloved by every member of his team, is a natural leader. He has the whole-hearted co-operation of his men. They believe in the new manager and believe in themselves. As one veteran declared, "if we can't win for Eddie this year we should be shipped to Oshkosh."

Judging from the manner in which Collins is proceeding with his material, bell time at Detroit on April 14 will see virtually the same line-up that campaigned so indifferently in 1924. But it will be a fighting crew.

Numerous recruits, many plucked from independent ranks, were given the acid test when the conditioning routine was launched and Eddie was quick to wield the pruning knife. The chief concern of the new manager is the choice of a competent short-stop and the development of an effective left hander. Otherwise his worries are of a minor nature. Three sterling performers have been fighting for the short field assignment and each is fully qualified to play the position. Harvey McClellan is perhaps the flashiest fielder of the trio, which includes Ink Davis, obtained in mid-season of 1924 from Columbus, and Johnny Butler, last year with Wichita.

The problem with Collins is to select the strongest hitter of this group and he is not prepared at this time to express his opinion on the subject. All the candidates are right handed batsmen and they have been stinging the ball in the practice engagements. Thirteen pitchers now grace the Sox roster, and five of these are slated to pastime elsewhere when Collins has completed his house cleaning.

Faber, Blankenship, Robertson, Connally, Lyons, Leverett, Cvengros, Mangum and Thurston are listed as the veterans, with Steengrafe, Ashe, Davenport and Foreman practically new-comers, though Steengrafe and Davenport have been on and off the roster in other seasons. It now appears as though Faber, Blankenship, Robertson, Lyons, Connally, Thurston, Cvengros and Mangum are fixtures, although Collins is not broadcasting information regarding his plans in the curving department. He is manifesting tremendous interest in the work of his southpaws and in Cvengros, Davenport and Foreman he is equipped with a trio of classy workmen.

Davenport, however, appears to be laboring under a big handicap as the result of having broken his right ankle while with Minneapolis last season, Kenneth Ashe, a young right hander with Rocky Mount in 1924, has impressed Collins and may crowd one of the veterans off the staff. He is a fast ball artist of promise and also has been exhibiting a curve of high degree, together with excellent control.

Sheeley at first, Collins at second and Kamm at third are all fixtures of course on the infield, while the outfield now lines up with the same fly chasers who carried on last year, namely, Falk, Hooper, Mostil, Archdeacon, Barrett and Elsh. In addition the Sox have acquired a promising recruit in Spencer Harris, last season with Bay City. This lad, a southpaw swatter, has been given considerable leeway in right field. Like "Bud" Clancy, who understudies Sheeley at first base, Harris is expected to pastime regularly at some future date, under the Comiskey standard. As not more than six outfielders, and possibly only five, will be retained, Collins also is confronted by a problem in the selection of the most capable gardeners, and they are all good.

In addition to the veteran Ray Schalk, who appears fit for a banner season, and Crouse and Grabowski, who were employed last season, the catching staff numbers George Bischoff, obtained from Fort Worth. All three second stringers to Schalk are of high caliber, but one of this group must be eliminated.

Marty Krug, Angel manager, puts his youngsters through their workouts during the morning hours now and leads his regulars in practice games during the afternoon.

NEW YORK, March 25.—San Francisco, which a couple of decades ago was the fight center of the universe, is faring rather badly in the matter of getting a glimpse of champions in action under the new California ten and 12-round boxing law. While both Los Angeles and Oakland, just across the bay, have had the opportunity to see the kingpins of a couple of fighting divisions in action. San Francisco's biggest bout to date has been the so-called "lightweight elimination" scrap between Joe Benjamin and Jack Silver.

Mickey Walker showed his wares in Los Angeles against Bert Colima and is due to show there again some time in April or May against Jimmy Duffy. Luis "Kid" Kaplan also took on a 12-round no decision, no-title-involved bout there with the antiquated Bud Ridley. Over in Oakland Kaplan again did a 12-round workout with Johnny Farr, one of the Oakland "home-guard."

Oakland still has another Kaplan show in prospect, the featherweight champion being scheduled to take on Stewart McLean, a dynamic hard-hitting boy managed by Mike Collins. Tommy Simpson will stage the match, presumably on April 1. While Los Angeles and Oakland both have been glimpsing the title-holders from the east in action, the nearest thing San Francisco has had in the way of a titular demonstration of wares was an unsuccessful bid for the Walker-Duffy bout.

San Francisco's failure to see a champion of some kind in action is said to be traceable to politics and political influence insofar as the fight game is concerned. Promoters who long have controlled boxing in San Francisco won't take a chance on losing any money by paying or guaranteeing to pay the demands of title-holders.

The Silver-Benjamin ten-round bout, which by the way, drew $40,000 was promoted by "outsiders." That is, State Senator Harry Morrison of San Francisco, who fathered California's new boxing law, rented the local ball park because he could not get anything else, and took a chance on making a profit over and above some $25,000 "necessary expense." Despite a lot of adverse knocking and dire predictions that he would come out loser, the Benjamin-Silver bout paid a handsome profit.

M'LARNIN WINNER IN VERNON BOUT

Teddy Silva's Nose Broken In Fifth Round; Weight Too Much For Him

By breaking Teddy Silva's nose in the fifth round and scoring two knockdowns in the eighth frame, Jimmy McLarnin of Vancouver, won a 10-round decision at Vernon last night over the Portuguese battler.

Because of eight and a half pounds more weight to McLarnin's credit, the men fought at catchweights. Despite the odds being against him, Silva put up an exceptionally good battle and when the fireworks were over McLarnin knew he had been through a fracas.

Young Nationalista lost the six-round semi-windup to Joe Ryder of New York.

Ryder, with his in-fighting, wore Nationalista down and was justly entitled to the decision. Kid Cervaco and Billy Howard fought four rounds to a draw. The bout lacked class, but provided plenty of action. Mel Stevenson and Tracey Ferguson staged a slugging match and the referee and a large white towel stopped it in the fourth.

Johnny Fiske and Jack Comby opened the show. The decision went to the former, displeasing a majority of the fans. The show was witnessed by a big crowd and the program, as a whole, pleased the cash customers.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, March 25.—In view of the fact that the University of Michigan won the western conference hockey championship this year, breaking Minnesota's string of four consecutive victories, may be read a true sign of progress in the scheme of winter sports in the Big Ten.

As a matter of fact, more conference colleges than Michigan are seriously and scientifically engaged in the creditable project of sending their students to competition in the great out-doors.

While Wisconsin is still the only university in the Big Ten—or, in fact, in the middle west—which conducts all the winter sports, this condition will not exist within the next few years.

Illinois went in for speed skating this year and has launched a definite plan for the promotion of winter sport in general. This university has several Olympic speed skaters in her student body and the present understanding is that an attempt will be made next winter to operate an indoor rink in the new stadium.

Michigan not only conducts hockey as intercollegiate sport but uses it in her intramural system as well. Thus far the attempt to arouse interest in skiing and other sports has been attended by results regarded as only fair.

Minnesota has always done splendidly with hockey and there is a lot of skiing and tobogganing seen about the university.

Elsewhere the field seems to lie pretty fallow. The University of Chicago, does not recognize winter sports and although there is a lot of talent among the student body and the city is operating two rinks near the university where hockey is regularly played and thousands skate.

Northwestern university likewise fails to show any interest in organized winter sports, although opportunities in the way of ice are abundant.

There has been talk at Minnesota of organizing a winter carnival based upon the famous affair at Dartmouth. If this were done the cause of competitive outdoor exercise in winter would be materially enhanced and no great time would elapse before the Mid-West section would be enthusing over contests such as thrill spectators in the New York and New England snow belt.

G. U. H. S. LOSES GAME TO LINCOLN

Railsplitters Wallop Local Players 13 to 2 At Hazard Park

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Coach Wolfe's Glendale Dynamiters received a 13-2 socking at the hands of the Lincoln High diamond nine yesterday in an uninteresting game, played at Hazard park, which proved to be a regular jinx to the Red and Black tossers.

Four runs in the first inning and seven more in the eighth rolled up an almost impossible score for the Railsplitters and left the Dynamiters hopelessly in the rear. Kohda, the Lincoln Japanese second sacker, featured with three hits out of five trips to the pan and fielded perfectly, taking six chances without an error.

Charley Smith did well for Glendale but a host of measly infield and otherwise lucky singles and rather loose playing on the part of his mates gave the game to Lincoln. Charley managed to sock out three hits in four trips with his big stick. Elmer Muff hit safely two times out of four. The box score:

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 25.—A big field of amateur stars is expected to compete here in the Ponce de Leon cup championship which will bring to a close the winter season of tournament golf in Florida.

Among those entered are Frank Thompson, Canadian amateur title holder, and his brother Stanley, well known Toronto golfer, Jack Davison, metropolitan star, Harold Weber, four times winner of the Ohio state championship and Kenneth Reed, metropolitan player. It is expected that Captain H. C. C. Tippet, prominent English amateur, Arthur Yates, Rochester star, Fred Knight, of Philadelphia, and Chris Dunphy, of Washington, also will compete.

After this tournament, most of the players will go to Pine Hurst, N. C., for the annual North and South championship.

The professionals also will assemble at Pine Hurst next week for the annual North and South open and shortly after this tournament they will begin preparing for the national open title event to be played at Worcester this year the first week in June.

Local C. C. May Back Traveling Ball Team

A semi-pro baseball team, traveling under the banner of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, will tour the middle-west during the coming summer, playing approximately sixty-five games in various states, if plans worked out by M. R. Bacom, local ball manager, are carried out.

Mr. Bacom has organized a local team with which he proposes to make the barnstorming trip of the middle-western states. He appeared before the Chamber of Commerce board yesterday, seeking financial assistance to furnish uniforms for the club. In the event that uniforms are purchased they will bear the name of Glendale, California, upon them and the team will become a walking advertisement for this city, Mr. Bacom said.

The board members were inclined to favor Mr. Bacom's offer, but placed final decision in the hands of the advertising committee.

British Shipping Gets Bad Setback Is Claim

LONDON, March 25.—British shipping is experiencing a bad period at present, and many of the shipping corporations are doing little more than covering their expenses, according to prominent shipowners. Both passenger and cargo traffic is practically stationary, they say, and in some cases the losses have been very big.

The United States' introduction of the quota system dealt a bad blow to the emigrant trade, in which British shipping concerns are greatly interested, while the fact that there is not so much money to spend in Europe at present is said to account for the depletion in first-class and saloon passenger traffic.

Vienna Police Afford Humor for Austrians

VIENNA, March 25.—Because of the laughable appearance of some members of the Viennese police force, orders have been given that policemen are to report at once if they increase in girth, so that their uniforms may be adjusted by the official tailors. The policemen have retaliated by declaring that their salaries do not enable them to grow fat.

SISTER FACES CHARGES OF 'BRANDING'

Grand Jury To Investigate Death By Burning In Human Sacrifice

OROVILLE, Cal., March 25.—A grand jury investigation into charges that Herman R. Schalow, Gridley orchardist, died as the result of burns inflicted during human sacrifice rites conducted by a group of religious fanatics at the home of his brother-in-law, Edward Rhodes, was promised today by District Attorney William E. Rothe.

The inquisitorial body will probably be convened either late today or tomorrow, Rothe said.

District Attorney Rothe announced that he would submit a statement to the grand jury from Rhodes placing the blame for the fatal branding on Mrs. Rhodes, a sister of the dead man.

The branding party was held at the Rhodes home in Biggs on March 1, investigation revealed today. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, the torture ceremonial was witnessed by several other members of the family.

Rothe said that despite the fact that physicians had declared Schalow had died from natural causes and not from the effects of burns, made with an iron, on his back and shoulders, the man's body may be exhumed and an autopsy performed.

Lockjaw, caused by his treatment during a session of the cult, was claimed by nurses at the hospital where Schalow died, to have caused his death.

According to the district attorney, the Rhodes and the Schalows were members of a religious society and said Schalow was made to suffer "as Christ did."

The Lions of Glendale have entered a national membership contest being staged by various Lions organizations in many cities and at today's meeting captains were chosen to select teams to stimulate 100 per cent attendance at the local den.

INDUSTRIAL NEED IN STATE GIVEN

W. Daum Addresses Realtors On California's Future In Manufacturing

"California cannot continue to pyramid real estate profits indefinitely and continue to exist and prosper," W. H. Daum, industrial expert, told Glendale realtors today at noon. "Turning real estate even at the largest profit is not creating one cent more wealth. Industrial development, the combination of resources and labor in the manufacture of things more valuable than the combined cost of the materials and the labor is the only means of creating wealth."

California will employ as many persons in the next 20 years in her industries as constitutes the entire population at present, the speaker predicted. The thing that is proving the biggest detriment to industrial development now is their inability to become financed in the west. Thousands of plants now located in Greater Los Angeles could double their payrolls and double their production were it possible for them to secure augmented financing here. Injection of eastern capital into western industries constitutes a menace, Mr. Daum said.

Favors Small Tract

The well-developed, well-managed, small industrial plant that is soundly financed and grows up with the community is the most advantageous to the Southern California community," Mr. Daum told the realtors. He urged industrial surveys to determine the class of industries for which each city is best suited. Concerns that demand subsidies as a bonus for locating their plants were branded by the speaker.

Mr. Daum concluded by declaring that every realtor should invest in commercial enterprises as an insurance policy safeguarding his realty investments.

The annual realty board dinner will be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club, Saturday night, April 11, James M. Rhoades, chairman of the dinner committee, reported at the meeting today. Elwood M. Ingledue will be in charge of the reception committee, Mayor Spencer Robinson will have charge of the musical entertainment. A. H. Voelker and E. P. Hayward will assist on the general committee. Chairmen of standing committees will have charge of the ticket sale.

The realty board went on record unanimously advocating the repeal of the California inheritance tax, now pending before the state legislature. The meeting today was held at the Episcopal church, President William L. Twining presiding.

PERSHING IN NEW DIPLOMATIC ROLE

Famous 'Black Jack' Of World War Fame Is To Be Traveling Agent

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The United States has found a peace-time occupation for its most famous warrior. General John J. Pershing having acquitted himself so splendidly on the recently ended trip to South America is to be a sort of ambassador to represent America at various celebrations and festivities the world over. The general will act as an exceedingly useful special diplomat but an extremely ornamental one. There never was a handsomer figure on horseback than that of the one-time commander of the American expeditionary forces. The pictures which have come back from South America, particularly one showing "Black Jack" reviewing the Chilean army from a snow white charger, is worthy of admission to any national gallery.

General Pershing's mission in the south was not a simple one. He was accredited first of all as a special ambassador to Peru for the celebration of the centenary of the Battle of Ayacucho which won freedom for a nation sixty times the size of Belgium, pawn in the World War. After being feted in Peru, General Pershing proceeded to Chile, more or less informally but again he was feted. And that time Peru and Chile were almost at each other's throats.

Friend In Need

Today they virtually are. The only thing that keeps them apart is the fact that Chile is far more powerful and Peru cannot cope with her southern neighbor and hated enemy in a military way. General Pershing proved himself a friend of both peoples and if there ever was any doubt as to his availability as a special ambassador it was swept away by his tact and diplomacy on this mission. The general also traveled to the Argentine and to Brazil but when he got back to Washington and found Vice President Dawes and several thousand Washingtonians at the station to meet him he declared there was no place like home and he was going to make that home in Washington. In fact the general glowed so gleamingly about Washington there is danger the real estate agents will confiscate him if he doesn't watch out.

It is a latter-day diplomatic divertisement, this sending of famous generals on special missions. France started it. She sent Marshal Joffre to this country and then Foch and Nivelle. She also sent them to Japan. Their fame naturally had preceded them and they made a great impression upon the people. England has used her field marshals, Haig and French. Italy has done likewise. England also sent Beatty to this country.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 25.—Stock prices made good recoveries today from the downward movement which has been in progress about two weeks. Compared with yesterday's low prices these advances ranged from 3 to 10 points. Not all of these gains were retained, nor was there any uniformity in the movement of stock prices. Most of the issues, which have been receiving a severe hammering from bearish traders in anticipation of liquidation by stock traders, snapped back in good form when the bears attempted to cover. But stock offerings continued heavy in other sections of the list.

The decline of Union Pacific common to 135¾, the lowest price since July of last year, was the feature of the railroad list. The northwestern rails were higher and so were New Haven and other railroad shares, which declined sharply at the end of the Tuesday session, but they did not succeed in making up the lost ground.

The midweek steel reviews emphasized the curtailment in the output of steel and pig iron, as well as the railroad orders. Steel stocks were steady today with United States Steel a strong leader in the industrial stock market.

Occasional spurts of professional buying sent prices of specialty stocks from 2 to 5 points higher, but declines generally followed, with the withdrawal of traders from the market.

Motor stocks followed the lead of the Maxwell and Chandler shares to higher levels in the late trading, and Pan-American preformed the same service for the oil stocks.

Savage Arms, American Can and other industrial leaders jumped 5 to 10 points when buying for short account became insistent.

Under the leadership of the motor stocks and the high-priced industrials the market enjoyed a good rally in the final hour, prices in all sections of the market rising to the high levels of the day. Railroad stocks also participated in the closing rally, while the oil and shipping stocks were inactive but firm. Union Pacific rallied to above 137, at which price it was down about 2 points from Tuesday's close.

Stock sales, 1,487,000 shares; bonds, $10,840,000.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, March 25.—Unanimous approval was given the Weller bill, No. 1083, at a meeting yesterday of the committee on legislation of the Los Angeles stock exchange. The measure, which has the endorsement of Edwin M. Daugherty, commissioner of the state corporation department, seeks to strengthen provisions of the present so-called blue sky law, and also adds other provisions, one of which contemplates regulation of stock market operations.

It was announced today that more than $15,000,000 worth of railroad car business is pending. This is the largest volume so far this year and indicates that railroads have again begun the purchase of rolling stock.

Active Glands Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

According to a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, March 25.—Nick Harris, well known detective, talked last night at the Thomas A. Edison school, on "Why Crime Doesn't Pay." The address was given under the auspices of the Order of the Mystic Smile and hundreds of boys and girls were in the audience. The famous trunk in which Charlie Chandeleau hid to rob bank vaults was shown.

This afternoon Mrs. Florence Raab addressed a big meeting of mothers at the Edison school, under the auspices of the Federated P.-T. A., choosing for her subject "The Story of Life, for Little Children." She comes from Detroit, where she is prominent in child welfare work.

Ward Davies of Burbank was recently commissioned by Secretary of Labor Davis to visit Mrs. Manna Chaplin, mother of the famous Charley and Syd Chaplin, at Hollywood, in connection with the question as to whether or not her presence in this country is a violation of the immigration laws. It is understood that Mr. Davies' recommendations are favorable to permitting Mrs. Chaplin to remain.

E. F. James of 241 Providencia avenue, who has been employed at a local grocery, has accepted a position with a cracker and cookie company of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Brockman of Lancaster will be here soon to spend a few days at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brockman, of 505 Providencia avenue.

Arthur Garner, president of an oil company of Taft, visited here recently with Lloyd Garner, Mrs. Mary Armstrong and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Zimmerman and sons, Marvin and Wilbur, who have been here since the day after Christmas, for the benefit of Marvin's health, are planning to leave for Earlville, Illinois, the first of the month. They will look after property interests in Illinois and Wisconsin and expect to return here again next fall.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, March 25.—Colorado boulevard will be resurfaced and thickened its entire length through this community, as soon as the sewers are in. This information is contained in a letter addressed to Councilman Edwin Baker by H. A. Van Norman, city engineer, and passed along by Mr. Baker to Mrs. A. E. Reiter, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce. Following is the letter:

"Replying to your recent letter, asking that Colorado boulevard be promptly resurfaced will advise that west of Maywood avenue this boulevard is now under contract for sewers, and sewers are pending on the remainder.

Our best policy will be to resurface and thicken this pavement after the sewers have been laid."

"Home Day" will be observed tomorrow afternoon at the Women's Twentieth Century club. Mrs. Mary Richardson will tell about the home extension service the government has established in rural districts, to make easier the life of women on farms. Mrs. C. B. Dirks will talk on "Opportunities at Home." There will be violin selections by Miss Pearle Drese.

Donald Cameron, a junior at the University of Southern California, has been chosen as a member of Skull and Dagger, all-university honor society. Twenty students and one faculty member were elected this year. Members are chosen mostly from the senior class and are elected for high rank, character and effort.

So great is the demand for Eagle Rock booster automobile plates that the Chamber of Commerce has found it necessary to order another supply, this being the third order that has been placed since the opening sale.

Ray Wood, who has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Wood of 5118 El Rio avenue, has returned to his home at Taft.

Mrs. W. B. Allison of Campus road and her mother, Mrs. Hedges have gone to Portland for a short visit.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, March 25.—An entertainment for the benefit of the new Sunland Community house is to be given at Twin Pines hall, Friday night, March 27, by the trustees of the building. An interesting program is promised, but the committee does not divulge the nature thereof, contenting themselves as announcing it as a "mystery" entertainment.

The Valley Center Improvement league, at its last meeting, passed a resolution calling upon state representatives to oppose the passage of the bill introduced in the Senate whose aim is to cripple the Torrens title system. The members also took action favoring the plan of levying a tax on gasoline instead of issuing additional bonds. G. B. Shaffer was delegated to arrange with the state highway officials for the extension of permit to plant athel trees along the highway.

The Tujunga Valley Realty board met Monday, at the Sunland Baptist church basement. M. V. Hartranft, who recently returned from Florida, gave a talk on the state inheritance tax, pointing out the harm it was doing to California. Following this talk, the board voted to favor modification of the inheritance tax law, in order that California may not suffer by repelling investment of capital on account of the unfavorable conditions imposed upon capital by this law.

The Round Table met Monday night. "Singing Jimmy" Smith and the Newmire & Ohme orchestra furnished a musical entertainment. The principal subject discussed was flood control. A resolution was passed favoring a joint committee of the various civic bodies of the valley, to consider the matter of flood control. Chairman Nottage appointed Wallace M. Morgan and C. H. Conway of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce; G. B. Shaffer and August Faure, of Valley Center league; H. R. Meador and W. E. de Generes, of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce, to present to their respective organizations the matter of appointing delegates to serve on the proposed flood control committee.

The Scout Boys of Tujunga-Sunland district will join with the Montrose-La Crescenta district in an overnight camping party in Haines canyon, April 3 and 4.

The Sunland Rural Telephone Co. is remodeling the system, and phones and switchboards will be of a modern type, adding greatly to the efficiency of the service.

The Monte Vista Woman's club held its regular meeting in the auditorium of the schoolhouse, Tuesday afternoon. Civic Betterment was the topic under consideration, and papers relating to this subject were given by Mesdames Morgan, Dunbar, Bernhard and Godding.

In the reorganization of Boy Scout work, outlined by H. R. Cheesman, executive of the Verdugo Hills district council, Rev. W. E. Smith was appointed scoutmaster for the Sunland troop. Leo Smith, A. L. Satterlee and Ernest Swaney were appointed committeemen.

Guy Smith, son of Rev. W. E. Smith, returned to Berkeley to attend the university.

Miss Catherine Crew entertained her friend, Miss Dorothy James of Los Angeles, over the week-end.

The Christian Endeavor held a social Saturday night in the Sunland Community church.

COST OF PROBE

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—The special committee investigating the Chinese herb scandal in the California legislature spent $637.90, according to a resolution filed today. Chinese witnesses got $116.50; Americans $48.40 and stenographers $473.

NAME OFFICERS FOR MASONS OF ATWATER

Fred H. Chapman to Make Announcement Of Appointive Posts at Meeting Scheduled for Tomorrow Night

Announcement of the full list of appointive officers of Atwater Masonic lodge will be made by Fred H. Chapman, master, at the meeting tomorrow night at 3218 Glendale boulevard. Detailed plans for a Masonic temple will be presented at the meeting and will be adopted if found satisfactory to the membership.

The lodge will decide at the meeting whether or not an invitation to use Elysian temple at Elysian park until a temple is built in the Atwater district will be accepted. Members of the masonic order will attend Sunday morning services at the Neighborhood Christian church in a body on Sunday, April 5, when Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor, will preach a special sermon on Masonry.

Plans Fish Hatchery

Something new in the way of fish stories has been circulated in the Atwater district and is verified by W. G. Thompson, expert on raising trout.

Mr. Thompson contemplates the establishment of a trout hatchery in the two small lakes back of Valleybrink avenue, in the bed of the Los Angeles river. He plans to plant 250,000 trout eggs, which will soon become 250,000 trout, and trout are worth just $1 per pound on the markets of Southern California when they can be obtained.

Only the question of the water right is holding up completion of plans for the trout hatchery at the present time, Mr. Thompson said. He hopes to prove his right to dam up the lakes, as the water source is a spring and not the natural flow of the Los Angeles river, he said.

Sidewalks Are Completed

Installation of sidewalks on Dover place, first side street in the vicinity to be paved, is now completed, and the thoroughfare is ready for pedestrian use. Other paving work will be rushed to completion, according to contractors on the job.

Improvement Body Meeting

Notices for Monday night's meeting of the Atwater Improvement association have been distributed throughout the district urging all residents of the north and west portions of the tract in particular to attend. The circulars were issued as a result of the meeting last Friday night, when a number of north side property owners met and determined to seek discontinuance of the Improvement association's participation in the light standard controversy and reconsideration of action regarding a new school in the district.

An effort to have the improvement body withdraw its endorsement of cement light standards will be made at the meeting. Property owners will also ask that the discussion of plans for a new school on the north side be immediately reopened and that the association go on record advocating the school. A large attendance of property owners from the territory most directly affected in both instances is being sought.

Church Bell Is Ordered

A bell for the Neighborhood, Christian church has been ordered by Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor, and will be installed in the belfry shortly. The bell will be purchased by public subscription.

Building News Notes

A palatial new home of Italian rennaisance architecture will be built on Hollypark place by Barney Kenfell, Atwater Park builder. The house will be the first of its kind in the district.

J. A. Kosterleky has sold his four-room house on Edenhurst avenue to Mrs. E. J. Mouree.

Alfred Dixon will build a five-room residence on Edenhurst avenue, he announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nelson moved into their new home at 3795 Valleybrink boulevard today.

Personals From District

Mrs. Frank P. Lehan of Atwater Park has gone to Palm Springs with her son who has been in poor health. It is hoped that the boy will recuperate at the springs.

E. L. Farmer, 4031 Brunswick avenue, will be in San Diego for several weeks on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dardis have leased the Ardison home on Valleybrink boulevard and will occupy it after today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Decker are entertaining extensively for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Christiansen of San Francisco, who were dinner guests at the Decker home, 3264 Garden avenue, last night. Another recent dinner party at the Decker home was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford K. Schwartzbaugh of Toledo, Ohio.

A large number of Atwater people attended the dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loeb, visiting here from Philadelphia, at the Frank E. Macauley home, 3270 Garden avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kepner, 3779 Valleybrink boulevard, will be absent from Atwater Park for a period of twelve weeks. They will spend this period in San Francisco.

Mrs. A. E. Lucius, 3847 Valleybrink boulevard is back at her home after a week spent at Santa Monica.

COSMO THEATRE, BRAND, WINDSOR

Manager Harry Gerson Is Pleased To Award Five Year's Passes Free

Hello Glendalians! Harry Gerson presents his greetings and is pleased to announce the results of the guessing contest which closed Monday, stopping the avalanche of guesses which have been flowing into Mr. Gerson's office from all directions for several weeks.

What is the name? What does it mean Who won the year's pass? How many won? Just one moment please; don't crowd; no pushing; give the man a chance to breathe.

The name Cosmo was taken from the word cosmopolitan. In New York there is the Cosmopolitan theatre. Also there are the Cosmopolitan magazine and the Cosmopolitan Production Co. of which Marion Davies is the star.

Many Make Guesses

Out of approximately 5000 guesses received five won the much coveted year's pass. Each winner will receive a pass good for the entire year dated from the opening date of the Cosmo theatre.

And so on the opening night of the Cosmo theatre Mr. Gerson or possibly one of the movie stars who will attend the opening will present to

MILDRED F. ELLIS
ROBERT FREY
EDITH McINTYRE
MARY E. MURRAY
D. F. RICHARDSON

a full year's pass to the Cosmo theatre where they will have the privilege of enjoying good, clean wholesome pictures that Mr. Gerson has booked for the Cosmo theatre, at Brand and Windsor. Mr. Gerson goes on to say:

"I sincerely thank the people of Glendale for its response, and interest, and enthusiasm shown in my new theatre at Brand and Windsor and I hereby promise that the programs to be offered at the Cosmo theatre will be as unique and attractive as the name itself."

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Mining is by no means the most speculative of the investment field in California, according to State Corporation Commissioner E. M. Daugherty, who is at the capital this week guiding through amendments to the "Blue Sky" law, introduced at his request by Assemblyman Frank C. Weller, Glendale.

The commissioner was a speaker before Sacramento Chamber of Commerce department of mines. He mentioned the fact that some discount companies and finance corporations had more hazards than mineral projects.

For, while it is possible for a mine to be "salted," very few people who invest in such stock are mulcted under present laws. And when one pro rates the profits paid by oil companies, comparatively little is lost in drilling operations.

But, considering the profits paid by finance organizations, presumably based on good business principles and directed by able men, the losses of the few who go broke offset the small margin of profit. So one sees the commissioner is not criticising either, but merely showing a situation as it really is.

It is proposed to establish a state department of mines to work in co-ordination with the corporation commission. If such will tend to develop the latent resources of California, there should be no hesitancy on the part of the Legislature to create such machinery.

Lack of information and authentic facts about California's resources is the great problem development agencies have. The real estate men are asking the Legislature to approve authority for research and statistical work in their governing commission. That measure, too, should carry.

Twenty-five per cent of the revenues of the state now are spent in highway work, the writer is informed. Almost as much is spent in education, although a greater burden for the latter is thrown on local districts. But 50 per cent is left for the purpose of governing. It might be well for taxpayers to adopt the slogan:

"More money for GOVERNMENT."

Italy has a skilled labor shortage.
